1,000 U. S. PLANES SMASH NORTH FRANCE

OFFENSIVE IN CONTINENT 17TH DAY

Americans Sustain Cease-Bombing of Europe By Blasting Vital Axis Installations

ATHER UNFAVORABLE

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
London, May 1—(AP)—One hundred or more Allied planes struck at Nazi installations and rail lines in France and Belgium today in the 17th day of the pre-invasion air offensive, spearheaded by a heavy bomber assault on secret targets in northern France.

Up to 500 heavy bombers as many escorting fighters delivered the main blow, without losing a single plane, then U. S. Marauders followed with raids on rail yards in both France and Belgium feeding the main Atlantic rail defenses. Parade fleets of RAF mediums bed railway objectives in France, and Mustangs and Thunderbolts hit the yards at Namur, Belgium.

The daylight attacks followed an "heavy bomber night raid" on an ammunition dump at Stenon, 37 miles southwest of Paris, and hammering two more points in France.

At 5 p. m. today the German radio said that "single planes" were seen in the west of Germany. The broadcast was recorded by U. S. government monitors in New York.

The U. S. heavy bombers roared early over the channel. American pilots found the weather too good and some formations brought their bombs home rather than drop them uncertainly on French civilians.

Groups found holes in the east and reported satisfactory bombing.

We didn't encounter a single German fighter," reported Porters Gunner Sgt. Harry Shirey, of Good City, Pa. "What little flak was off in the distance."

The Second Tactical Air Force led today's offensive, bombing rail yards in France under escort of New Zealand and Allied fighters.

The British night blow itself was close on the heels of the day's 3,000 Allied planes, which were reported to have destroyed yesterday against German invasion targets in France.

Loss of 498 Men With Ship, Report

Washington, May 1—(AP)—The sinking of an American ship with 498 military personnel in the Mediterranean was announced today by the War Department.

The date of the sinking was not given, except that it was "recent." It was disclosed whether the ship was action was by submarine or air.

The vessel sank swiftly and 498 military personnel are missing," the brief announcement. "The fate of the ship's personnel have not been notified."

GINE CREW KILLED IN P. R. R. WRECK

Pittsburgh, May 1—(AP)—The engineer and fireman of the dead locomotive of the Pennsylvania Railroad's Jeffersonian were killed today when the fast New York Louis passenger train plowed into a wrecked freight train east of Trafford.

He died was Walter R. Klein, of Portage, Pa., engineer, and Briggs, 27, of Altoona, Pa., man.

Both locomotives of the double-track train overturned, but the engineer nor fireman, were hurt, company reported. None of the 600 passengers on the 15-train were hurt, the company said, and none of the cars were derailed or damaged.

All four of the main line were blocked by the wreckage.

People of Occupied Europe Old Liberation Day Is Near

London, May 1—(AP)—The pre-invasion nerve war between U. S. broadcasting station Britain which launched its operations yesterday by telling the people of occupied Europe that Allied armies will soon be coming to their aid "from the east and south."

His twin blow, to be struck in cooperation with Russian forces attacking from the east, will show

Resolutions Adopted By Oil Operators Seek Crude Boost

Bradford, May 1—(AP)—The Independent Petroleum Association of America today looked forward to its annual meeting at Dallas, Tex., on October 23-24-25, after adopting key resolutions seeking an increase in the price of crude oil and formation of a definite national oil policy at the close of a three-day mid-year session here.

Other resolutions passed by the 300 oil producers and executives Saturday sought as objectives less government competition with private industry and a draft deferment of key men in the oil business.

Rep. Wesley Disney (D-Okla.) told the association that he plans to introduce a bill in the house for "the exploration of every executive order, rule or regulation at the end of each two-year session of congress to make a complete check of the executive department of our government."

Highlights of the resolutions were:

National oil policy: Services were promised by the IPAA in furnishing information to the senate committee on formation of a national oil policy.

Emergency price control: An amendment to the price control law during its renewal was asked so that more "certain and definite standards" to guide the OPA are effected. This would "drive price of crude petroleum and its products."

The status of Lewis' application is virtually the same as it was more than three months ago when the council last considered it. The issue is not a simple matter of readmission, but the terms of readmission. It is possible, however, that Lewis or his friends will demand a flat "yes" or "no" decision from the council this time.

The council told Lewis in January he could come back as he left seven years ago, that is, with mine workers.

Many Towns On Mississippi Are Inundated

By the Associated Press
Swollen to its highest levels in 100 years, the raging Mississippi river swept safely past St. Louis but continued spreading destruction today as one of its tributaries, the Illinois, continued tearing at the eastern levees.

Forecasters of showers throughout the watersheds of the two streams led authorities to call for additional help to battle the rivers, bringing in over 11,000 the number fighting to hold the levees in Illinois and Missouri.

The total acreage inundated by the Mississippi and the two tributaries, the Illinois and Missouri, in the latest tabulation by the Red Cross was 1,212,000. Levees were being broken and overtopped in so many places it is difficult to keep figures up to date.

Sedition Trial To Start Over Again

Washington, May 1—(AP)—A contempt of court proceeding against a defense attorney today halted until Wednesday the trial of 30 persons accused of seditious conspiracy. Then it will be necessary to start all over with the selection of a jury.

Chief Justice Edward C. Eicher, presiding at the trial in federal district court, said developments made it impossible to impanel a jury before midnight, expiration date for the present jury panels.

Accordingly, Eicher announced that the trial, which entered its third week today, will start all over again.

The defense lawyer who must "show cause" why he should not be held in contempt is James J. Laughlin of Washington. Eicher said this proceeding to another judge for a hearing tomorrow.

Slight Hope Siamese Twins Will Survive

Phoenixville, May 1—(AP)—Siamese twins, joined together at the pelvis, entered their second day of life at Phoenixville hospital today, but the physician who attended them said he expected they would die.

Born yesterday to Mrs. Mary Stierly, 24, of Audubon, Pa., the twins weighed 12 pounds and were joined together at the pelvis although they were perfectly formed from the waist up. Dr. J. Elmer Gotwals, chief of staff at the hospital, said.

TANK FORCES ARE BATTLING JAPS IN BURMA

Second Anniversary of Allied Retreat Marked By Announcement of Growing Activities

CAMPAIGN IS EXPANDING

By RICHARD C. BERGHOLZ
Associated Press War Editor

Two years ago today, Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell and his beaten Allied troops started their retreat from Burma. Today, Allied headquarters chose the anniversary to announce the first all-American tank unit to see action on the Asiatic continent has entered the battle against Japan's supply system in northern Burma.

The announcement testified to the growing strength of Stilwell's forces and the expanding success of his campaign to smash the effectiveness of the Mandalay-Myitkyina railroad and to carve a new land route from Leda, India, to the old Burma road and thus re-open the overland supply line to China.

Headquarters reported progress in the clean-up of Japanese around Kohima, farthest point of the Japanese invasion of India.

Japanese forces have breached Chinese defenses of historic Hualao Pass, gateway to Luyang in northern China, after an eight-day battle. Chinese headquarters indicated the enemy may attempt a full-scale push immediately on Luyang. Other Japanese are driving on Hsuehchang, 50 miles south of captured Chenghsien, but Chinese troops are reported to have pinned down a Nipponese column near Minsien, southwest of Chenghsien, and are inflicting heavy casualties.

Busy Month In Store For Both Major Parties

Washington, May 1—(AP)—In the greatest burst of political activity the presidential campaign has seen thus far, Democrats will name delegates representing 476 national convention votes and Republicans will select 351 this month in 26 states.

Beginning with the Florida and Alabama Democratic primaries tomorrow, when slates to cast 18 to 24 votes, respectively, will be chosen, the two major parties will hold almost daily conventions and primaries. By June 1, the Republicans will have selected 1,006 of their 1,059 Chicago delegates and the Democrats 906 of their 1,176.

Unless there is an unexpected change in sentiment, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, who says he is not a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, and President Roosevelt, who has said nothing at all about the Democratic nomination, probably will continue their harvest of pledged and claimed delegates.

The Republican field was narrowed perceptibly over the week-end by Gen. Douglas MacArthur's unequivocal statement that he would not accept the nomination.

OWLETT PRAISES WAR CO. OFFICIAL

Philadelphia, May 1—(AP)—G. Mason Owlett, president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association, said today the federal government seizure of Montgomery Ward & Company was "a repugnant piece of tyrannical black-jacking," and would turn the people against Washington bureaucracy.

Owlett, who is a Republican national committeeman for Pennsylvania, said he sent a telegram to Sewell Avery, board chairman, congratulating him on his stand.

Chinese Admit Fall Of Historic Pass

Chungking, May 1—(AP)—Chinese field reports admitted today the fall of historic Huai Pass, ancient battleground guarding the way to Luyang in Honan province. This is a distinct blow to the Chinese.

An eight day battle preceded loss of the pass, a small piece of flatland backed by steep mountains on three sides. It fronts the Yellow river north of the Chinese had removed the tracks.

The invaders were reported to have begun an immediate fortification of the pass, rushing preparations for a possible drive on Luyang.

The Japanese continued an advance down the trackless Peking-Hankow railway and were threatening the important town of Hsuehchang, 50 miles south of Chenghsien.

DON'T BLAME HIM!

Jerusalem, May 1—(AP)—Rudolf Messerschmidt, 70-year-old Jerusalem resident from Switzerland, applied to the government today for permission to change his name to Rudolf Spitfire.

Liberator Gunner Is Retired at Age of 16

A U. S. Liberator Base in Britain, May 1—(AP)—Sgt. Desales A. Glover of Pittsburgh, Pa., a Liberator gunner who recently was awarded the air medal, is being retired from the U. S. Army Air Force at the ripe age of 16, it was learned today.

He was grounded recently after completing six missions, including one trip to Berlin, when it was discovered he was under age. Administration officials said he probably will be sent home and honorably discharged. By fibbing about his age, Glover enlisted in the army Oct. 14, 1942 when he was only 14.

"I hate to have to quit the army and give up flying," he said, "but when I'm old enough I hope to re-enlist for pilot's training."

No Time Fixed For Probe Into Store Seizure

Chicago, May 1—(AP)—Federal Judge William H. Holly today heard arguments on the motion of Montgomery Ward and Company to dissolve the order restraining the company and its officials from interfering with federal operation of the plant. Judge Holly has indicated he will rule on the injunction question tomorrow.

Washington, May 1—(AP)—House Democrats split wide today over the proposal to investigate the Montgomery Ward plant seizure.

Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) indicated a "cooling off" process for congressional tempers was favored by the administration forces when he said no time had been set for house consideration of the resolution by Rep. Dewey (R-III) for the investigation.

STALIN LAUDS ALLIES IN MAY DAY MESSAGE

London, May 1—(AP)—Premier Marshal Joseph Stalin, in a May Day pronouncement, declared today that the Red army and the Allied armed forces must launch simultaneous onslaughts from east and west to finish off "the wounded German beast x x x in his own den."

"There can be no doubt that only a combined blow such as this will be able finally to crush Hitlerite Germany," Stalin declared in a broadcast order of the day which praised the Allies for their "considerable contribution" to past Russian successes.

Stalin said that American and British troops "are holding the front against the Germans in Italy and are diverting a considerable part of the German forces from us. They supply us with very valuable strategic raw materials and armaments and subject to systematic bombing military objectives in Germany, thus undermining the military power of the latter."

Stalin said it was difficult to count on the governments of the Nazi satellite countries to break with Germany.

The premier ordered a salute of 20 artillery salvos fired in nine Russian cities at 8 p. m. tonight in honor of the Red army, the workers, collective farmers and the intelligentsia.

May Day was observed at numerous rallies in England last night, with bright uniforms of the United Nations' invasion forces forming a sea of color as speakers sounded "victory soon" themes.

PEARL HARBOR SHOCK TO AMERICAN APATHY

Pittsburgh, May 1—(AP)—One hundred fifty graduates of the Carnegie Institute of Technology were told by Attorney Edward O. Tabor that when the Japs struck at Pearl Harbor, "the false and long indulged dream of American security supposedly resulting from Ocean protection vanished in a second."

As the principal speaker at the 39th commencement exercises yesterday, he declared:

"It took the frightful shock of Pearl Harbor to awaken Americans out of their indifferent adolescence to realize the fact that world-wide tyranny, brutality and anarchy were on the march and that free Americans were scheduled as victims."

Bargain Tax Rate For Big Families Urged

Washington, May 1—(AP)—Bargain tax rates for big families picked up some fatherly support in the senate today, along with suggestions that even more should be done to encourage an increase in population.

The new simplification measure, which has been promised swift congressional action, would cut the tax bills for large families by allowing a flat $500 exemption on every member of the family.

The current deduction for each child is $350. By the same token, the measure would increase tax liabilities for childless couples.

"I say that in view of the high cost of living, the high cost of bringing up children, the deduction should be even more," said Senator Maybank (D-SC). "It never was enough."

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) and Downey (D-Calif) both expressed doubt there would be much inducement in the measure as it stands to increase the birth rate.

Memorial Services for Navy Secretary

Washington, May 1—(AP)—Frank Knox, secretary of the navy, will be laid to rest on the rolling slopes of Arlington National Cemetery today while U. S. Navy men around the world hold memorial services for "the boss."

Replete with pageantry and traditional rites, the service for Knox, who died Friday from recurrent heart attacks, begins in a little church where he had worshipped since becoming secretary of the navy in July, 1940.

There, an old friend and neighbor, who lived near the Knox home in Manchester, N. H., where the late secretary once published a newspaper, will conduct the religious rites. He is Dr. Fred S. Buschmeyer, pastor of the Mount Pleasant Congregational church.

Timetable Is Worked Out In Minutes For Great Adventure

By EDWARD D. BALL
London, May 1—(AP)—At the beginning of this month of May, statistically most favorable for invasion from a weather standpoint, only one thing seemed certain about the forthcoming great venture—the approximate date was decided long ago and the timetable worked out in minutes, even seconds.

Records covering a number of years show the weather in the English channel ordinarily gets better each month from January through May. Through many years May has seen less fog and fewer gales at both ends of the channel—the Scilly islands on the west and Dungeness on the east.

Assembly Meets To Enact Soldier Vote Legislation

Administration Appropriation Bill Would Set Aside $750,000 for Cost of Providing Ballot For Armed Forces

PARTY LEADERS AGREE TO SIDETRACK POLITICS

Harrisburg, May 1—(AP)—The general assembly convened promptly at noon today on a note of harmony to enact a liberalized soldier vote law for Pennsylvanians in the armed forces.

The gavel dropped in the house at 12:04 p. m., and a minute later in the senate.

Administration appropriation bills ready for introduction would set aside $750,000 for the cost of administering the soldier vote bill, including gathering of names and distribution of ballots, and $30,000 for expenses of the annual governors' conference May 28-31.

The cost of the special session itself has been estimated at $300,000, making the cost of the commonwealth's new soldier vote law roughly a million dollars.

With leaders of both parties agreed on putting politics aside, a one-week session was expected with final adjournment set for the latter part of the week, unless some dispute should develop in clearing the bi-partisan measures through the house and senate.

With opening formalities out of the way, a joint session of the two houses was called to hear Governor Martin urge speedy enactment of "a simple, direct and easily understood plan for our men and women in the armed services (estimated at 800,000) to exercise their right of franchise."

Legislative parliamentarians looked for the house to suspend rules so that all the measures could be introduced, referred to committees, reported back to the floor and passed for the first time before the end of the legislative day. Final enactment of the legislation is expected by the end of the week.

In the senate, meantime, confirmation of Governor Martin's interim appointments of top ranking officials and members of scores of commissions and boards was due for consideration.

Since a two-thirds vote of the 50 senators is necessary for approval of gubernatorial appointments, eighteen Democratic senators hold the balance of power but deferred a decision on their stand until a caucus is held after the initial session today.

FATHER AND SON DIE IN CRASH OF PLANE

Pittsburgh, May 1—(AP)—A father and his 10-year-old son died in a crash of their small training plane at Pitt-Wilkins airport, Pittsburgh, yesterday, 15 minutes after the boy pleaded:

"Please take me along daddy." Sylvester Carl Perr, 35, the pilot, and the son, Donald, were in the plane when it stalled at a low altitude, went into a spin and crashed, witnesses said.

Wednesday, May 17th, Date For First County Rag Pick-Up

WEDNESDAY, May 17, is the date set for Warren County's first Rag Pick-up.

W. T. Corbett, county salvage chairman, this morning issued a list of the types of rags needed and their use in the war effort, as follows:

WIPING RAGS are used for cleaning machinery, removing grease, and polishing in all war plants, aboard all ships, and in all mechanical installations. They may be composed of cotton, linen, or mixtures of cotton, with wool, silk or rayon. Worsteds are not desired. Approximately 50 per cent of all wiping cloths are used directly by the armed forces.

FELT BASE FLOOR COVERING. Great tonnages of rags are required in the preparation of the felt base on which the design of all rugs is printed. All types of rags can be used.

ROOFING. The principal part of asphalt roofing is felt, which is made from canvas, old crepes, cotton cloth and wool cloth. These are very badly needed materials. Coat and upholstery pads are converted into army mattresses and cellulose for gun powder.

BURLAP BAGS are recorded and used in the manufacture of new bags or felt materials.

HATS and any type of straight wool felt is needed for tanks, trucks and other essential materials.

MANILA ROPE is used in the manufacture of electrical installations, parachute flares etc.

COILED ROPE is used to produce essential packing materials. Mr. Corbett believes that about 60 tons of rags will be collected in this initial drive. All rags should be clean.

Hubby Ejects Visitors From His Residence

In the words of the old time song "Whose Shoes are Those Shoes Where My Shoes Ought to Be" a husband on Saturday night investigated and found out. He stopped at the police station and taking a few strong arms of the law proceeded to his domicile and conducted a search of the house. Sure enough there was a visitor and once located he was shoved out into the balmy spring air. The report on the police docket says "an unwelcome visitor was ejected" but gives no further details. Evidently the hubby just wanted to put his shoes back where his shoes ought to be.

The coppers also herded in a few of the boys who had drunk too well but not wisely and they appeared before the magistrate Sunday morning and heard him give the usual fine an docosts.

Several family quarrels were settled in a Colmanesque manner and one papa who had gotten himself all full of fighting whiskey was towed to the police station and put in dry dock.

Several dogs were found open where the folks had been so busy getting ready for the week-end vacation that they didn't have time to lock up.

One small auto wreck at Third avenue and Water street was investigated when a car driven by a William F. Beaumont, of 106 Cole avenue, Jamestown, hit by a car driven by Ray Baker, 122 Elm street. Both parties carried insurance and the matter will be settled. No arrests were made.

REPORT DELAYED

If they show rabies it will be known the dead dog was mad. There will be a delay in the report until this fact is ascertained.

The brief greeting informed Mr. and Mrs. Anundson that their son was well and urged them to keep up their courage. Regarding the trip it merely stated "destination unknown."

Greyhound Lines May Buy West Ridge

Reports were current in Warren this morning that the Greyhound Bus Corporation had purchased the properties of the West Ridge Bus Lines. Inasmuch as the West Ridge owns and operates the local bus lines, the lines to Jamestown, Kane, Erie and other points in this section the sale would be of great interest in Warren and vicinity.

Inquiry made this morning at the office of the West Ridge Company in Girard today elicited the information that as yet "the report is merely a rumor." Asked if negotiations were under way for the sale the reply was "there is nothing yet for publication."

There is undoubtedly negotiations under way for the sale which if consummated would have far reaching effects in the transportation system in this entire section. Reports have been current during the past few days that the bus terminal in this city would be moved from the present bus waiting room near Liberty street on Pennsylvania avenue to the bus barns. There is a building there formerly used for freight by the Warren-Jamestown street railway company that could be used as a waiting room, ticket offices, etc., and this would remove much of the congestion that is now caused by buses at the present terminal. However this move cannot be certified as local employees of the company profess ignorance.

Grass Like Tinder Care Must Be Exercised By All

The winds and sun of the past few days has dried out the grass and the bracken in the woods and all are urged to exercise the greatest of care in the use of fire in the woods, throwing away of matches and cigarette stubs and emptying pipes. Fires are costly and "when the forests burn all lose".

Over the weekend the Department of Forests and Waters and the crews of fire fighters of the Allegheny National Forest put in some busy hours. About 20 fires of small size were successfully battled and all were held in check before they grew to large proportions.

In the borough the fire department had five runs all of them to extinguish grass fires. On Friday three alarms were sounded—one to the head of Marion street, one on the old brewery lot. This fire was quite dangerous and the Forestry department crew and the Thomas Coupling employees aided in fighting it. The third alarm Friday sent the firemen to 444 Prospect street.

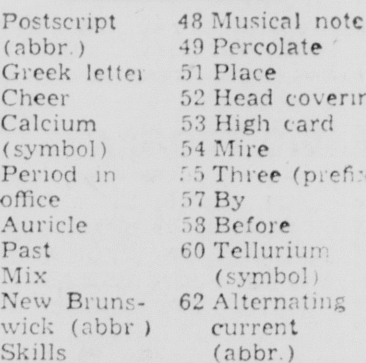

On Saturday one alarm was responded to at the head of Jefferson street and on Sunday a fire in Washington Park was fought. This was caught soon after it started and it had little chance to spread. The firemen were out only 27 minutes on this fire.

It is not the "they" in the community which counts, but the "we" feeling which will find a solution to the community recreation problem. Come to tomorrow's meeting, at 7:30, in the high school auditorium. 5-1-1t

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Green Light Given For More Women at the Sylvania Plant; Need Great at Present Time

Manager Arthur Chapman, of the Sylvania Company this morning gave the green light to the War Manpower Commission and said "We are ready now for more women. It is imperative that we have 200 women within the next few days. We have the plant in such shape that we can use the women immediately and must have them or our effort to get out the product so urgently needed in the war effort will be curtailed. There is not a sister, mother or sweetheart of a fighting man but desires that their men be given every possible thing needed to fight the enemy with and we are appealing to them to help in the work."

Manager David Levine, of the Man Power Commission is keeping the office at 225 Pennsylvania avenue, west open every evening this week in order that women may enroll for places at the Sylvania and other plants. Mr. Levine states that so far he has been able to recruit about one-half of the 800 women needed by the Sylvania company and he feels that there should be an outpouring of girls and women if they only could realize what a dire need exists. There are countless women in the county who hesitate about enrolling for the work which is light and pleasant. Age is no barrier and mothers of soldier boys are especially appealed to at this time.

This evening it is hoped that at least 75 women will call at the office and enroll.

COUNTY FORESTS

Over in Crawford the Commissioners have opened a 20 acre County Forest on which 20,000 young trees have been planted. The plot had been devoted to reforestation purposes and waste lands previously taken over by the county in tax sales. After discussion the Commissioners decided that the land would be valuable to posterity if it were planted to trees. It was an innovation in the handling of lands of this character but is one that has won widespread and most favorable comment.

"Commissioners in others of the north tier counties where lumbering was extensively carried on in years passed could well follow this example. Timber lands if protected from fires increase in value each year and waste lands secured for unpaid taxes if planted will become a valuable asset for the future. Planting will halt erosion, growth of quack grass and other weeds and the land will become valuable with passing years.

Warren county has plenty of land which if planted by the county would be an asset in years to come and would convert useless arid into acres worth thousands of dollars to the people of the county. Growing forests are potential fortunes and a few hundreds of acres of lands reforested now in 40 years would be most valuable.

BABSON ON DELINQUENCY

Roger Babson, one of the most widely read columnists in the country, speaks his mind on the subject of juvenile delinquency with the following comment heading his April 28th syndicated article:

"We hear much regarding the delinquency of youth. Many parents are having difficulties in keeping their teen-age children at home and off the streets. This especially applies to communities near army camps, naval bases, air fields and munition plants. I'm told, however, that in most cases the parents of these children are to blame because they themselves, do not stay home. They set their teen-age children a very poor example. Furthermore, for every young person found on the streets at night probably several grownups can be found carousing in night clubs. Therefore, I feel that the first step is for a community to clear up its 'delinquent parent' situation."

Reports of casualties among Warren county young men with the United States fighting forces are beginning to multiply and as the days and weeks pass on the number will increase. Opening of the invasion will bring into action scores of Warren county men now in England and residents of the county must be prepared to learn of the loss of loved ones. However every dollar put into bonds, observance of all gasoline, ration orders, etc., will tend to save the lives of sons, brothers and husbands. It is a time for taking of stock of folk on the home front as to their efforts to make the war shorter and the times when the boys come marching home quicker.

Efforts of the park committee to keep the trees of the town trimmed have been noted during the past few weeks as umbrellas were carried on the streets without their becoming tangled with overhanging shrubbery and limbs. Work of the park commission is so unobtrusive that few realize what a splendid job it is doing.

A study of hospitals in the state showing their availability for emergencies such as a sudden influx of wounded soldiers or disasters is to be made by Major Roger A. Greene, of the State Council of Defense. This will be a new survey made necessary by the war conditions which are expected to soon bring thousands of hospital cases into the state.

Wednesday, May 3, Poland will observe the 153 anniversary of its Constitution and Gov. Edward Martin has asked that recognition be given by residents of this state to the welfare and progress of that nation.

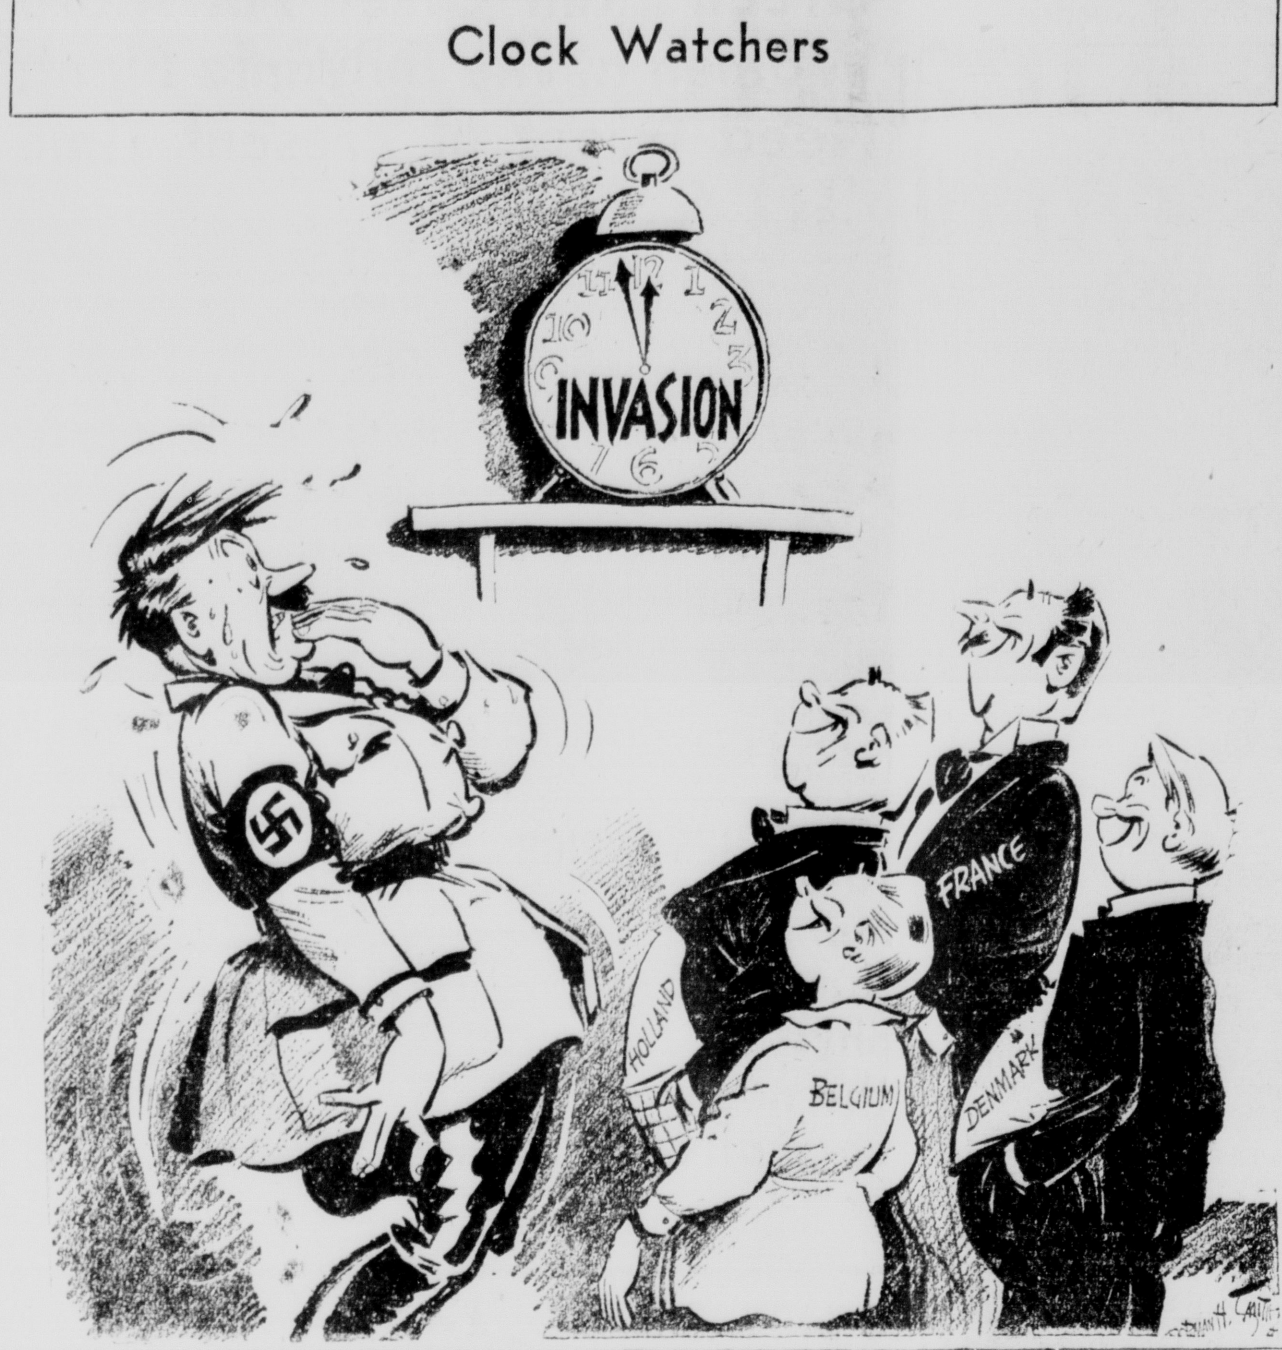

It augers well for Warren's future that few of the plants of this county have changed over or enlarged extensively solely on war orders.

Need of 300 women for the Sylvania during the next few weeks should supply the gear for taking up the slack in the lives of the sweet girl graduates.

Washington in Wartime

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — Behind the scenes, the first big guns of one of the greatest international post-war battles are opening up the fight for control—perhaps a gentler word would be "distribution"—of the world air lanes.

A week or so ago, a conference between British and United States representatives was held in London. Soon a similar conference will be held here between U. S. and Russian representatives. This is just spade work. After that the three powers, possibly with delegates from other friendly nations, will hold a joint conference. Out of that may come the pattern for distribution of the world air lanes which could easily determine the balance of power in tomorrow's world trade.

Out of the London conference has come nothing yet except that the talks were "highly satisfactory." Since this is the American report, observers here say it means the British have "made some concessions," although concessions on what isn't quite clear.

It's pretty generally agreed that it may be the opening wedge in post-war negotiations that, in the long run, may be more important than boundaries, forms of government and a good many other world problems now belaboring the international thinkers. The important thing at the moment is the man who is going to front for us in these vital negotiations. He is Assistant Secretary of State Adolf A. Berle Jr.

Just turned 49, Berle is the youngest assistant secretary in the department but not in point of international experience. As a captain in World War I, he devoted his time to intelligence and his special field was Poland. He was in the delegation that attended the peace conference at Versailles. As a New York attorney, he gave much time to international law, most of it dealing with Latin America. Sec. Hull had him along at the two big pre-war hemispheric conferences which gave the Americas almost a solid front against the Axis when war came.

HE WAS one of the first of the New Deal "brain trusters" and it is believed that many of the early New Deal policies were shaped around his thoughts and conclusions.

Here is place to pause for a point. Berle is generally described as an "intellectual." Certainly he is a thinker, an analyst in the fields of economics, law and international relationships. Once he has reached conclusions, he tosses them out for what others think they are worth. He doesn't crusade for his ideas.

This doesn't mean he isn't a good negotiator. Word has already drifted back from London that he is very "tough." Friends say that he's a take-it-or-leave-it man in argument—the most difficult type of all to swing around to your point of view.

Hollywood Gossip

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — Rushing Vincent Price through a movie role to let him keep a date with Uncle Sam's Navy set 20th Century-Fox back by the cost of a ruined church, at least.

Price played Angus Mealy in "Keys of the Kingdom." Mealy appears at Father Chisholm's mission at Pai-Tan just after fire has destroyed the church, an impressive stone edifice. To finish with Price, art director William Darling had to superimpose a "wreck" camouflage over the building for those scenes, restore it to good condition for earlier scenes with other actors. The other day the special effects crew did the actual burning....

BORIS KARLOFF, whose bogeyman roles make you chilly, can't stand a chill breeze himself....

Alexander Knox, after five months as "Wilson," isn't interested in doing the character on Broadway. He was considering a Wilson play when the movie opportunity came, but "now I have to prove that I can be someone else...."

Ann Corcoran spent her first six months in Hollywood taking voice lessons to eliminate a slight lisp. Last week she was assigned her first role as a contract player, that of Phil Baker's secretary in "Take It or Leave It." She's in every scene dealing with the radio show hands Baker the cards bearing the questions asked each contestant, and all around her there is conversation. Contestants whisper to each other, and in the audience someone shouts in excitement. But Ann Corcoran? Her lisp gone, she hasn't a line to say to prove it....

IN some movies flowers still crackle, like the paper they are, but never in Mitchell Leisen movies. He won't tolerate artificial flowers on his sets....

Leisen's "Practically Yours," incidentally, will defy a convention: starting off as stark tragedy, it switches suddenly into farce comedy. You're not supposed to make pictures like that, but Leisen will get by with it....

First man in Hollywood to help crooner Dick Haymes was comedian Chick Chandler. Four years ago Chandler gave the then hungry Haymes a job driving him to the studio, then saw that he ate regularly by persuading the casting department to take him on as Chandler's stand-in. What's more, Chick was first to listen sympathetically to Dick's songs, when he was trying to make the grade as a composer rather than a singer.

Now, as you know, Haymes is a star at the studio where he was Chick's stand-in. And in "Irish Eyes Are Smiling," in which Haymes plays Ernest Ball, the composer, Chick Chandler is also cast—as a theater man who kicks out Dick Haymes, without a hearing!

On the slope of a sand dune on a South Pacific beachhead, battle-toughened marines establish a "central office" to link advance posts with headquarters and co-ordinate every phase of the landing operation. That switchboard is one small item in the vast flood of communications equipment produced for the Army and Navy.

All-out production for our armed forces has virtually wiped out production for normal civilian needs. Western Electric Company—peace-time producers of telephone equipment for the Bell System—is now engaged almost exclusively in the production of electronic and other war communications equipment for the Army and Navy.

The war-time shortages of telephone facilities have made it necessary to put applicants for service on "waiting lists." The "waits" are lengthening as facilities and reserve supplies of telephone equipment near the vanishing point.

But the Army and Navy cannot be put on any "waiting lists." Their needs come first.

Beauty School Teacher Elected Head Of Business Women In District One

Honor came indirectly to Warren Saturday afternoon when delegates of District One, Business and Professional Women, elected as president Goldia Hill, member of the Youngville club and instructor in the opportunity room in Beauty junior high school here.

Others chosen to serve next season were Agnes Lynch, Corry, vice chairman; Mary Dickson, of Greenville, re-elected recording secretary and Mrs. Idah Ross, of Erie, re-elected treasurer. The corresponding secretary is appointive and will be announced later.

Another important item of business at the spring meeting, held here in the YWCA activities building, with 100 delegates from Warren, Erie, Corry, Greenville, Meadville, Union City and Youngville, was the decision to invite the 1945 state convention to be the guest of the district at Allegheny College in Meadville.

Reports were given on the district project of securing radios for Camp Reynolds, showing members had been successful in securing ten so far. Reports of the various clubs showed each had participated in many types of war work during the months past and had other activities scheduled for the near future.

The district banquet at six o'clock in the YW dining hall was served from tables very attractively done with pastel Maypoles and tiny dolls, tall candles in matching shades, floral place cards and printed programs. Miss Lynch, of Corry, was toastmistress for the program, which opened with "The Star Spangled Banner" and the club collect. Viola Lindmark led group singing, with Evelyn Wolstencroft at the piano, and was assisted in several numbers by Adelaide de Maison, district president, and Dorothy Urick, both of Meadville.

Mrs. Ross, of Erie, gave the response to the welcome extended by the local president, Louise Nelly, after which Miss Lynch introduced the special guests: Mrs. Mary Denman, national membership chairman; Dorothy Urick, second state vice president; Mabel Simmons, state program coordination chairman; Mrs. Helen Schluraff, national vice president, past state president and candidate for state treasurer; Helen Remler, past state president; Katherine Remler, first district chairman; Inez Fitch, Edna Thompson, Helen Schluraff, past district chairman; Miss de Maison, Miss Dickson and Mrs. Ross, current officers. President of visiting clubs and their delegations were asked to stand for a greeting. A vocal quartet composed of Miss Lindmark, Miss Wolstencroft, Mrs. H. D. Harris and Mrs. Foster Maze and accompanied by Mrs. Clarence O. Swanson, was heard in these very pleasing numbers: "In Heaven Above", Norwegian folk song; "The Lord's Prayer" by Malotte; "The Peddler", a Russian popular tune; "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes", by Jerome Kern and the Brahms Cradle Song. Mrs. Margaret Drivas, club member, was accompanied by Miss Wolstencroft for Edith Haines Kuesters arrangement of Moszkowski's "Springtime of Love".

Mrs. Denman, principal speaker, stressed importance of membership renewals, new members and new clubs and spoke of program plans of the national federation for next season. The theme, "Toward Victory and Beyond", will be built about "a program of action for women who work" and will deal with such topics as post-war legislation and employment, what kind of world we want, international relations, health and education, with emphasis by individual clubs of needs of their own particular communities.

Miss de Maison thanked the local members for their entertainment of district clubs and awarding the attendance prize to Erie. Business items of the afternoon were reviewed and the program closed with the Emblem Ceremonial song of the organization. A special prize awarded by the Warren Club went to one of its own members, Martha Fuhrer.

Players' Official Has Suggestions For Play Patrons

Because of unusually widespread interest in Lawrence Riley's new mystery-melodrama, "Time to Kill", being given here on Thursday and Friday evenings, May 11-12, mail orders for seat reservations are already pouring in to the Warren Players' post office box, 563, and it is stated these will be filled before the box office opens next Monday evening, May 8.

The box office chairman, Mrs. Howard Alexander, is preparing for much bigger crowds than the Warren Players have had for years. To shorten the line which usually forms just before curtain time and has often delayed the opening, Mrs. Alexander asked club members and friends to keep in mind these things:

You won't have to stand in line for seat reservations if you send a self-addressed and stamped envelope when you order your seats by mail.

You'll gain the gratitude of the Woman's club personnel if you phone to Warren Players', 776. Sometimes Mrs. Alta Chapel Warren, the club secretary, receives as many as 20 to 30 Players' calls a day. Yet the Players have had their own phones for several years.

If you must pick up your reservations the night of the play, please be kind enough to come early, so that everyone may be accommodated before curtain time.

Because the box office staff is very small, box office will be open only three evenings before the play: Monday, May 8, from 7 to 9; Tuesday and Wednesday, May 9 and 10 from 5 to 8; the nights of the play from 7 o'clock until curtain time.

VEW GIRLS' MEETING
The Junior Girls' unit of the VEW will hold its regular meeting and installation of officers in the post rooms at seven o'clock Tuesday evening.

Second Auxiliary Hears Reports of Erie Presbyterial

In addition to devotions by Mrs. William Heggerty and routine affairs taken up at the regular meeting of the Second Auxiliary Missionary Society in the church parlors Friday afternoon, members heard two very fine reports of the delegates who attended the Erie Presbyterial sessions in Franklin on April 26-27.

Mrs. Walter Sigworth, reviewing the first day's events, told of a spirited account of work at Neighborhood House, given by Laurence Rober; the newly established hospital for chronic cases at Cambridge Springs, given by Rev. Kiskadon; a talk on negro schools by Mrs. Hanna of the national mission board, and a report by Miss Amelia Steer on Christian education.

Proceedings of the second day were reported by Mrs. Fred L. Plummer, who told of suggestions for program planning and missionary education for all ages, pointed up by a fine pageant on missionary kinship.

Miss Hulda Angermann, former church secretary visiting in Warren from Wilmington, Del., greeted members briefly at the Saturday session.

A greatly enjoyed skit by Mrs. Brackett Ayers and Mrs. Ralph Sires, depicting conditions in national and foreign mission fields, concluded the program.

Conversation was enjoyed about the tea table, where Mrs. Harold Smith was assisted by Mrs. C. T. Conarro, Mrs. W. E. Fuellhart, Mrs. H. S. Hayden, Mrs. Gilbert Johnson, Mrs. Cora Rhoadsberger, Mrs. Grace Siggins, Mrs. H. P. Stone, Mrs. N. K. Wendelboe.

Fine Report and Program Given At WSCS Gathering

Mrs. H. H. Barr, who was one of the Erie Conference delegates to the Methodist WSCS jurisdictional conference held in New York some weeks ago, presented a fine report of the happenings at the regular meeting of the First Methodist unit.

She stressed the conference theme, "to build one harmonious world" and spoke of reports of missionaries to China and Japan concerning their experiences in over-crowded Japanese internment camps.

Mrs. E. S. Briggs was in charge of the evening's business session. Mrs. Ray Shepard conducted devotions and Mrs. Alan Templeton was program chairman. Musical numbers included the following solos and duet by two high school clarinetists: "Old Uncle Ned" by Fisher, played by Wilmer Latshaw; "Beautiful Isle of the Sea" by Thomas, Bill Fuellhart; "Tranquility" by Genard, by both. Their piano accompaniments were played by Mrs. Charles Eaton.

Preceding the meeting and program, men of the Bible class joined the ladies for a 6:30 tureen dinner served by the following committee: Mrs. C. A. Miller, chairman; Mrs. C. W. Barvis, Mrs. C. C. Burch, Mrs. W. S. Clark, Mrs. F. G. Haines, Mrs. S. K. Jaquins, Mrs. W. F. Mead, Margaret Pittman, Mrs. R. D. Smedley, Mrs. J. D. Shortt and Mrs. Ethel Johnson. Spring flowers and candles were used in pretty table appointments.

Title Series Starts Tonight At Elk Alleys

The first three games in the championship series will be rolled this evening at the Elk alleys when Soda Minerals meet Struthers No. 2. The series will be for the best out of seven games and will be finished Wednesday evening.

In the Friday night matches Struthers No. 2 were compelled to go the three games before winning out over Kirbergers, the Jewelers taking the first two by close scores. On the other alleys the Soda Mineral boys had a comparatively easy time taking over the No. 1 team from the War Industry.

Much interest is being shown in the series and large crowds are expected to be on hand for the events.

St. Louis Browns May Tie The League Record With a Victory Over Indians Today

By TED MEIER

Any lingering doubts that the public didn't want baseball in this third wartime season were dissipated yesterday by an outpouring of more than 208,943 fans for eight major league doubleheaders at New York, Philadelphia, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Detroit, Washington, Boston and Chicago. These figures do not include thousands of service men who were admitted free.

The largest Sunday turnout was at the Polo Grounds in New York where 58,068—including 52,037 paid—saw the Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers split a bizarre twin bill. Thousands were turned away.

The Giants ran away with the opener, 26-8, as Phil Weintraub batted in eleven runs and Ernie Lombardi, seven. The Dodgers rallied to win the nightcap, 5 to 4. Joe Medwick, of the Giants, was hit in the groin by a thrown pop bottle between games, but was not seriously hurt although he was kept out of the second game. Leo Durocher, Brooklyn manager, was banished in the sixth inning of the opener. Both the 26 runs and the 11 RBI fell short of existing records.

The St. Louis Cardinals kept on top of the National loop by sweeping a doubleheader from the tail-end Cubs, 5 to 0 and 7 to 6. Southpaw Max Lanier won his third straight game in the opener. Stan Musial's three-run homer won the nightcap. The double setback ran the Cubs' losing streak to nine. Ernie Bonham and Hank Borowy buried the New York Yankees to a double victory over Washington, 2 and 1 and 3 to 2, before 31,657 behind the timely hitting of Don Savage and Bud Metheny. The St. Louis Browns stayed in first place by splitting with the Chicago White Sox. The Sox took the opener, 6 to 5, while Don Guthridge's double won for the Browns in the afterpiece, 5 to 4.

Cleveland and Detroit split their bargain encounter before 38,940, second largest crowd of the day, at Detroit. The Indians took the opener, 2 to 1, and the Tigers the nightcap, 4 to 2, on Chick Hostetler's two-run single.

The Phillies went 14 innings to beat the Boston Braves, 2 to 1, in the first game of a twin bill before 30,392 at Philadelphia, but had to be content with a nine-inning 2-2 tie in the second game when Butch Nieman socked a ninth-inning homer. Jim Tobin hurled one hitless inning to stretch his streak to 13 consecutive hitless frames.

Pittsburgh and Cincinnati also split a twin bill as did the Philadelphia Athletics and Boston Red Sox. Pittsburgh won the first game, 7-1, while the Reds took the nightcap 4 to 1, behind Bucky Walters' three-hitter. Bob Johnson's homer gave the Red Sox a 3 to 2 triumph over the A's in the first game. The Mackmen snapped back to take the afterpiece, 3 to 1.

Much of the Old Atmosphere Will Surround Annual Derby

By ORLO ROBERTSON

Louisville, May 1.—(P)—The familiar atmosphere which Col. Matt Winn annually entwines around the Kentucky Derby will save the inveterate race fan from thinking he is seeing another race when some three-year old horses break from the barrier in the 70th running of the $75,000 turf classic at Churchill Downs Saturday.

Even the hardboot from the nearby bluegrass country, who can quote breeding lines almost from the beginning of the thoroughbred, will feel a little uneasy. There'll be the ever present mob—probably 50,000 or more, even though the ODT and the local hostilities have clamped down on railroad and hotel reservations and street cars will be the chief mode of travel to the ancient oval on the outskirts of this bustling war industry city.

Superintendent Tom Young again will have the track bedecked in all its spring splendor and the band will play "My Old Kentucky Home" as the horses parade from the paddock.

But there the resemblance between this and any other derby becomes strictly coincidental.

ESCAPE from PARIS

by Marion McClure Stewart

Chapter 28

AS they crossed the farm yard with Lanetot toward the stable he hurriedly explained he had been alarmed by news brought to him by his hired man, Henri Bisette, who he had stationed in the village to report any arrival of Nazis. A sergeant, accompanied by some troopers and arrived in an army van and were making inquiries at the inn about a milk wagon passing through the village.

Entering the stable Etienne pointed to the hay loft. He got a ladder and opened a trap door in the flooring above, cleverly constructed so as not to be visible from below.

"Now up with you quickly," he urged, "then I'll remove the ladder. I have put a lunch basket up there in case we can't get food to you for some hours."

He hurried them up the ladder, instantly closing the trap door and concealing the ladder beneath a pile of canvas in the store room. In the meanwhile Madame Lanetot had washed the dishes and removed all traces of the breakfast.

Raoul and Adrienne found themselves in a loft stacked with hay into which air entered from a small grilled ventilator at one end. They sat silent, motionless, listening for sounds in the barn. Overhead came the ceaseless cooing of pigeons. At length they heard heavy footsteps below and voices, seemingly raised in altercation; then Etienne's voice protesting, evidently disclaiming knowledge of their whereabouts. Fragments of his speech reached them.

"I AM a milkman myself, Messieurs. Certainly I have a milk wagon. How else should I deliver my milk? You say a milk wagon came this way—perhaps many pass. How do I know?"

Finally all was quiet. The air was warm in the loft and Raoul saw Adrienne's eyes were closed on the verge of sleep. Exhausted, she lay back in the hay.

Chapter 29

PIERRE DUSSAULT had slept for several hours following Adrienne's and Raoul's departure, when he felt a hand touch his shoulder.

"Monsieur Dussault," it was Gabord.

Gabord lowered his voice. "It's the Gestapo, M'sieu—not Herr Schaefer, but two men we have not seen before. They are waiting to speak to you."

Dussault got to his feet. "It has come at last, I imagine."

Dussault entered the cafe with his habitual brisk step and alert air. He bowed formally to the two men who were awaiting with evident impatience.

"Good morning Messieurs. What can I do for you?"

"I am Hans Schultz, of the Gestapo. M. Dussault," one said. "And my companion is Kurt Hauptmann. We are both members of Herr Schaefer's staff. What we want is information regarding a waitress who worked here, by name of Adrienne Girard. This is important Monsieur. So think well before you speak."

"There is no occasion to think," returned M. Dussault smoothly. "Anything I know about Adrienne Girard, I can tell you at once."

"Will you tell us why this girl is not at work today?"

"I cannot tell you Messieurs. I have had no word and am afraid she must be ill, or something has happened to her."

"If you have any knowledge of her movements last night, it will be to your advantage to acquaint us with the facts."

"I have no knowledge of Mlle. Girard's movements last night," returned Pierre Dussault, his expression undergoing no change. "Are you aware that the girl is charged with complicity in the plot which resulted in the murder of Kapitän Von Eger?"

"That is absurd," retorted Pierre Dussault covering the inner agitation of his feelings with a show of indignation. "Mlle. Girard as far as I know was not ever acquainted with the Kapitän. He had never paid us the compliment of dining here."

"That shows how little you know

Suddenly he remembered the sheet of paper he had picked up on the road. He drew it out of his pocket, unfolded it and with the aid of a small electric torch which he carried, bent over to read it. The paper, under large headlines, carried the story published by a leading Paris paper of the shooting of Kapitän Von Eger on the previous evening.

Raoul's eyes ran down the column of newsprint.

"It has now been indisputably claimed that the girl who visited the late Kapitän Von Eger's apartment in the afternoon at the Continental was Adrienne Girard, a beautiful waitress at the Café de Dragon Rouge on the Boulevard St. Germaine. For some time," he said, the girl had been seeing Von Eger and it is no secret that he had become enamored of her. The pair had frequently been seen in public together. Jean Cortot, concierge at the Bellevue apartments where Miss Girard had been staying, testifies that Miss Girard on the afternoon she visited Von Eger had received a valuable gift of jewelry from him. Cortot personally had delivered it to her."

"She was later seen leaving the officer's apartment in an agitated state."

"It is thought that she may be connected with the fatal shooting which occurred the same night. A reward of one hundred thousand francs is offered to anyone who will furnish knowledge of her whereabouts."

Raoul's eyes blazed with anger and amazement and the paper fell from his hand. He had failed in his excitement to read the notice printed below: that a search was also being conducted to locate Raoul de Lamothe, a drug store clerk of anti-Nazi leanings, who was also suspected of being involved in the plot, and had suddenly disappeared.

At that moment Adrienne opening her eyes, caught his expression and asked "Raoul, what is it? Have they gone?"

"Read that," he said grimly, thrusting the paper into her hand.

of the girl in your employ. She not only knew Kapitän Von Eger, but she was on intimate enough terms with him to visit him in his apartment in the Continental, yesterday afternoon."

"The shock of this revelation fell on Pierre like a heavy blow. He recalled that Adrienne had admitted she had known this man when the news of his death had been given her. His hands clenched."

"M'sieu, what you say is incredible. What proof have you?"

"Plenty of proof," returned the Nazi. "The waitress who served cocktails to the Kapitän recognized Mlle. Girard. He had seen her once in this cafe. She is too good looking to be easily forgotten. A chamber maid, a hell boy, and the door man testified a girl answering to the description had rushed madly through the hotel out into the street."

"But even if that were true," said Dussault gravely, regaining control of himself, "I cannot see that it implicates her in the shooting which took place hours later."

"THAT is what we want to find out," was the grim retort. "We want to discover Mlle. Girard's movements last night. She was seen leaving the Bellevue Apartments at four-thirty o'clock and later leaving the hotel. That is all we know."

"Well I am sorry Messieurs, but I am powerless to help you in this matter."

He was conscious of the suspicious scrutiny of the two men who left shortly afterwards, leaving him shaken. He discovered Gabord was beside him.

"Gabord, you heard what they said—about Adrienne?"

"Yes M'sieu! It is in the morning papers—the entire story—but perhaps there is no truth in it. We know what lies these Nazis are. His voice had gathered sudden indignation. "I only know that this man had been pursuing her and trying to force his attentions on her. Madame Dupont will tell you. He came here more than once to enquire for Mademoiselle."

"And I knew nothing. Why didn't you tell me, Gabord? There was reproach in his tone."

"There was no use in worrying you, M'sieu. You had enough to worry about without that. But I took the precaution of listing the Kapitän as a man whose movements must be watched.

"If this story is true," he lowered his voice, "possibly the waitress who served the cocktails belonged to our movement and reported the incident."

"Yet he appears to have given information to the Gestapo. I objected Dussault."

"That would be his safest course and insure him against suspicion," returned Gabord. "He knew others would take action. It was Antoine Castonguay that I gave the information."

A look of understanding passed between them. Antoine's zeal was known to them both.

PIERRE Dussault set with Madame Dupont in the morning. "This is the worst thing that could happen to Adrienne. Gabrielle," Dussault shook his head sadly.

"What could have possessed her to have accepted attentions from this man?"

"I warned her, Pierre. Adrienne seemed to think she could get information from him."

He sighed. "I thought it was for that reason. But her going to his apartment—that surely was the maddest thing of all. Why did she do it?"

"It seems that she sent her gift through Madame Dupont's thoughtfully. 'Haven't you considered, Pierre, that the child may have gone there to turn it in?'"

"I pray that she and Raoul go through safely. For myself—I come to the worst—I have had no life. But you, Gabrielle, you must not be involved."

"My poor Pierre," tears came into Madame Dupont's eyes. "What value would my life be if they took yours? She—out of her devotion, the love she had borne for him during long years. Perhaps now that he is lost, Adrienne who from her childhood had been the object of his love and care, he would turn to her for companionship and comfort."

"God bless you, Gabrielle," he raised her hand to his lips and kissed it.

DISPATCH TO ALL STOREKEEPERS...

From the fighting fronts to the merchants of this city comes a desperate plea—SAVE WASTE PAPER!

Paper to make bomb rings, shell containers, helmet linings—to pack and protect food, ammunition, and blood plasma. Over 700,000 items needed by our armed forces are made of paper or wrapped in it.

So urgent is the need for waste paper that today it tops the list of all the materials critically needed for war.

In retail stores in this city tons of precious waste paper are daily being destroyed. Used wrappings, cartons, packing boxes, old bills and records are being burned or thrown away when they should be going into the muscle and sinew of our war machine.

Save every scrap of waste paper—bundle it—phone this newspaper for collection information. Do it today!

Critelli Is Commended For Efforts

Friends of Lewis J. Critelli, whose transfer by the Red Cross Entertainment Service from New Guinea to Australia was just announced a few days ago, will read with interest that he has received a fine letter of commendation from the chaplain and commanding officer of the ship on which he went out.

While the name of the ship and its officers cannot be revealed in the interests of military censorship, the following letter from the chaplain and endorsement from the ship's officer are quoted verbatim:

Letter of Commendation—I want to take this opportunity to thank you for all the work you have done to make this voyage a pleasant and successful one. The fine work you did with the shows on deck is appreciated by everyone, I am sure.

Since you are going out for the first time to serve our troops in the field, I want to give a recommendation for you, wherever you may work, on the basis of the fine results you produced while on board our ship. The entertainments you organized, both the afternoon shows and the "Grand Finale", were the best we have had yet, and we commend you highly.

This work falls under my department, but the only credit that I am willing to take for it is that I was very fortunate in securing such willing and faithful help in carrying the program on.

Please accept my sincere thanks, and my best wishes for you and those with whom you work as you go on to your assignment. Also please extend this word of appreciation to all those who so ably assisted you.

May God bless you and your work with our men.

Warning On Motor Truck Care Given

"We've always had such an abundance of automotive transportation in America that it's hard to believe that before the war is over we may be up against the problem of not having enough trucks and busses and automobiles to meet essential needs, but it's still the truth," says Mr. D. B. Blackman, who is Sun Oil Company's local district manager. "Yes sir," he continues, "because no new cars are being made, and because we are overworking our present equipment to keep up with wartime scheduled, today's automobiles and trucks are being sent to the scrap heap at the rate of five thousand a day, or about two million a year. Obviously, if this keeps up, it won't be long before we lack enough cars and trucks to meet our barest needs."

"That's why Sun Oil Company's engineers have designed the 1944 Sunoco Spring Changeover Special with such scientific detail. Proper care can help a lot to make a car run better and last longer. That is why this special one-stop service is now being featured by our Sunoco dealers."

"They change the motor oil and gear lubricants to the recommended summer-type—and by the way, don't forget that today's Sunoco Motor Oil is made especially for rationed driving; made to help keep motors clean so that they will stay powerful and easy on precarious gasoline. And in addition, this Sunoco Car Saver Changeover Special for Spring, also includes many other services when you bring in your car. For instance, the battery, radiator and tires are all carefully checked to be sure they will give you top service. The chassis and running gear receive a thorough inspection, the sparkplugs are cleaned and adjusted to help conserve gas, the fan-belt and hose connections are inspected and even such little things as the car's lights and windshield wipers are checked."

"As a result, by the time your car is given a complete Sunoco Car Saver changeover for Spring, it is returned to you ready to deliver many more miles of safe service. Best of all these services are all done at one time according to scientific charts. Nothing is forgotten, nothing is left to chance, and all work is done at minimum charges. Every Sunoco Car Saver dealer is pledged to do his best work at minimum rates!"

Letters to the Editor

April 21, 1944.

Mr. Wm. Walker,
Times-Mirror,
Warren, Pa.

Dear Mr. Walker,

The following resolution was presented and adopted at the April 14th meeting of the Warren County Council of Defense.

Resolved: That a letter of appreciation be sent to the Times-Mirror expressing the unanimous thanks of the Council for the very splendid help rendered in placing before the people of Warren County the Defense Council's Program.

The recognition given Warren County, both State and National, for the outstanding success of the Warren County Salvage Committee is in large measure due to the aid of your newspaper in correctly informing the women of Warren as to processing tin cans and saving paper, fats and other salvage materials needed in the War Industries.

We take pride in having such loyal unselfish people as yourself and associates for fellow citizens and workers in this effort to help our boys win the war.

We realize the valuable space contributed by the newspapers to War agencies means a real sacrifice on your part and again let us thank you for your loyal support and cooperation.

OF DEFENSE

Questions and Answers On Community Recreation

Questions and comments of all kinds have been made during the past few months since a community recreation program has been suggested for Warren. A few typical questions with partial answers will appear in the Times-Mirror to give some idea of what will be handled in the panel discussion next Tuesday evening, at the public meeting on community recreation sponsored by the Community PTA Council.

Why do we need a program? The need is not a new one, although it is accentuated by war or depression crises. There has been a need in Warren for years, expressed repeatedly, for a centralized program. Communities which have a well-coordinated program eliminate much duplication of effort and have a far better coverage for our people's needs. Out of school young people and adults in Warren have expressed the need for mixed community activities, covering sports, crafts, social function, adult education projects, etc.

There is a year round need for adults as well as young people to have relaxation to offset the strain of daily work and to share in the community's recreational life, satisfying the craving for companionship. This is especially important in wartime, when people are under an added strain. The post-war period is being considered all over the nation and should

OFFENSIVE IN CONTINENT 17TH DAY

Americans Sustain Cease-Bombing of Europe By Blasting Vital Axis Installations

ATHER UNFAVORABLE

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
London, May 1—(AP)—Over a hundred or more Allied planes struck at Nazi installations and rail lines in France and Belgium today in the 17th day of the pre-invasion air offensive, spearheaded by a heavy bomber assault on secret targets in north-France.

Up to 500 heavy bombers as many as 1,000 escorted fighters delivered the main blow, losing a single plane, then U. S. Marauders followed with raids on rail yards in both France and Belgium feeding the main Atlantic wall defenses. Separate fleets of RAF mediums bed railway objectives in France, and Mustangs and Thunderbolts hit the yards at Namur, Belgium.

The daylight attacks followed an earlier heavy bomber night raid dropping an ammunition dump at Stenon, 37 miles southwest of Paris, and hammering two more points in France.

At 5 p. m. today the German command said that "single planes are attacking western Germany." The broadcast was recorded by U. S. government monitors in New York.

The U. S. heavy bombers roared early over the channel, and American pilots fought the weather-one too good and some formations brought their bombs home rather than drop them uncertainly endangering French civilians.

Groups found holes in the east and reported satisfactory being.

We didn't encounter a single German fighter," reported Fortress Gunner Sgt. Harry Shirley, of the 48th Army Air Corps, of the 48th Army Air Corps, of the 48th Army Air Corps.

What little flak was off in the distance," reported the 48th Army Air Corps.

Postons and Mitchell's of the 2nd Tactical Air Force led today's offensive, bombing rail yards in France under escort of 2,000 New Zealand and Allied fighters.

The British night blow itself was close on the heels of the day's 3,000 Allied planes over the Channel yesterday against German invasion targets in France.

Loss of 498 Men With Ship, Report

Washington, May 1—(AP)—The loss of an American ship with 498 military personnel in the Mediterranean was announced today by the War Department.

The date of the sinking was not given, except that it was "recent." It was disclosed whether the ship was action was by submarine or not.

The vessel sank swiftly and 498 military personnel are missing," the brief announcement. "The fate of the personnel have not been notified."

GINE CREW KILLED IN P. R. R. WRECK

Pittsburgh, May 1—(AP)—The driver and fireman of the dead locomotive of the Pennsylvania Railroad's Jeffersonian were killed today when the fast New York-Louis passenger train plowed into a wrecked freight train at east of Trafford.

The dead were Walter R. Klein, of Portage, Pa., engineer, and Briggs, 27, of Altoona, Pa., fireman.

Both locomotives of the double-track train overturned, but the engineer and fireman were killed, the company reported. None of the 600 passengers on the 15-train were hurt, the company said, and none of the cars were derailed or damaged.

Four of the main line were wrecked by the wreckage.

Resolutions Adopted By Oil Operators Seek Crude Boost

Bradford, May 1—(AP)—The Independent Petroleum Association of America today looked forward to its annual meeting at Dallas, Tex., on October 23-24-25, after adopting key resolutions seeking an increase in the price of crude oil and formation of a definite national oil policy at the close of a three-day mid-year session here.

Other resolutions passed by the 300 oil producers and executives Saturday sought as objectives less government competition with private industry and a draft deferment of key men in the oil business.

Rep. Wesley Disney (D-Okla.) told the association that he plans to introduce a bill in the house for "the exploration of every executive order, rule or regulation at the end of each two-year session of congress to make a complete check of the executive department of our government."

Highlights of the resolutions were: National oil policy: Services were promised by the IPAA in furnishing information to the senate committee on formation of a national oil policy.

Emergency price control: An amendment to the price control law during its renewal was asked so that more "certain and definite standards" to guide the OPA are effected. This would "give price control of crude petroleum and its products."

The status of Lewis' application is virtually the same as it was more than three months ago when the council last considered it. The issue is not a simple matter of readmission, but the terms of readmission.

It is possible, however, that Lewis or his friends will demand a flat "yes" or "no" decision from the council this time.

The council told Lewis in January he could come back as he left seven years ago, that is, with mine workers.

Many Towns On Mississippi Are Inundated

By the Associated Press
Swollen to its highest levels in 100 years, the raging Mississippi river swept safely past St. Louis today as one of its tributaries the Illinois, continued tearing at the earthen levees.

Forecasts of showers throughout the watershed of the two streams led authorities to call for additional help to battle the rivers, bringing to over 11,000 the number fighting to hold the levees in Illinois and Missouri.

The total acreage inundated by the Mississippi and the two tributaries, the Illinois and Missouri, in the latest tabulation by the Red Cross was 1,212,000. Levees were being broken and overtopped in so many places it is difficult to keep figures up to date.

A committee meeting for re-organization and election of state chairman and other party officers is set for May 24 here and the proposed changes in party rules are expected to come up for consideration then.

Chief Justice Edward C. Eicher, presiding at the trial in federal district court, said developments made it impossible to impanel a jury before midnight, expiration of the present jury panels.

Accordingly, Eicher announced that the trial, which entered its third week today, will start all over again.

The defense lawyer who must "show cause" why he should not be held in contempt is James J. Laughlin of Washington. Eicher sent this proceeding to another judge for a hearing tomorrow.

the Germans "what overwhelming force can be" and "will end forever the shameful chapter of Nazi tyranny," the broadcast declared.

Delivered by Robert E. Sherwood, director of the Office of War Information's overseas operations, the initial message from the U. S. station—known as "Absie"—urged underground workers throughout Europe to hold themselves in readiness for the signal to strike in concert with the Allied armies of liberation.

TANK FORCES ARE BATTLING JAPS IN BURMA

Second Anniversary of Allied Retreat Marked By Announcement of Growing Activities

CAMPAIGN IS EXPANDING

By RICHARD C. BERGHOLZ
Associated Press War Editor
Two years ago today, Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell and his beaten Allied troops started their retreat from Burma. Today, Allied headquarters chose the anniversary to announce the first all-American tank unit to see action on the Asiatic continent has entered the battle against Japan's supply system in northern Burma.

The announcement testified to the growing strength of Stilwell's forces and the expanding success of his campaign to smash the effectiveness of the Mandalay-Meiktila railway and to carve a new land route from Lado, India, to the old Burma road and thus re-open the overland supply line to China.

Stilwell's jungle fighters are within 45 road miles of the rail road terminus, Meiktila, and within 44 miles of the important junction of Mogau, 40 miles west of Meiktila toward Mandalay.

Headquarters reported progress in the clean-up of Japanese around Kohima, farthest point of the Japanese invasion of India.

Japanese forces have breached Chinese defenses of historic Hualo Pass, gateway to Luyang in northern China, after an eight-day battle. Chinese headquarters indicated the enemy may attempt a full-scale push immediately on Luyang.

Other Japanese are driving on Hsuehchung, 50 miles south of captured Chenghsien, but Chinese troops are reported to have pinned down a Nipponese column near Mhsien, southwest of Chenghsien, and are inflicting heavy casualties.

Highlights of the resolutions were: National oil policy: Services were promised by the IPAA in furnishing information to the senate committee on formation of a national oil policy.

Emergency price control: An amendment to the price control law during its renewal was asked so that more "certain and definite standards" to guide the OPA are effected. This would "give price control of crude petroleum and its products."

Busy Month In Store For Both Major Parties

By JACK BELL
Washington, May 1—(AP)—In the greatest burst of political activity the presidential campaign has seen thus far, Democrats will name delegates representing 476 national convention votes and Republicans will select 351 this month in 26 states.

Beginning with the Florida and Alabama Democratic primaries tomorrow, when states to cast 18 to 24 votes, respectively, will be chosen, the two major parties will hold almost daily conventions and primaries. By June 1, the Republicans will have selected 1,006 of their 1,059 Chicago delegates and the Democrats 906 of their 1,176.

Unless there is an unexpected change in sentiment, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, who says he is not a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, and President Roosevelt, who has said nothing at all about the Democratic nomination, probably will continue their harvest of pledged and claimed delegates.

The Republican field has narrowed perceptibly over the week-end by Gen. Douglas MacArthur's unequivocal statement that he would not accept the nomination.

GEN. CLARK HAS BIRTHDAY
With the Fifth Army in Italy, May 1—(AP)—Two hundred officers and men, including eight generals, quietly surrounded Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's billet at dawn today and congratulated him on his 48th birthday with a band playing "Happy Birthday." Clark, commander of the Fifth Army, appeared in slippers and trenchcoat with a surprised look on his face to accept the greetings.

KILLED IN CRASH
Donora, May 1—(AP)—Andrew Lario, of Donora, died in Charlevoix Memorial hospital of a fractured skull suffered when his car overturned and crashed into a garage near here yesterday.

Slight Hope Siamese Twins Will Survive
Phoenixville, May 1—(AP)—Siamese twins, joined together at the pelvis, entered their second day of life at Phoenixville hospital today, but the physician who attended them said he expected they would die.

Born yesterday to Mrs. Mary Stierly, 24, of Audubon, Pa., the twins weighed 12 pounds and were joined together at the pelvis although they were perfectly formed from the waist up. Dr. J. Elmer Gotwals, chief of staff at the hospital, said.

Liberator Gunner Is Retired at Age of 16

A U. S. Liberator Base in Britain, May 1—(AP)—Sgt. Desales A. Glover of Pittsburgh, Pa., a Liberator gunner who recently was awarded the air medal, is being retired from the U. S. Army Air Force at the ripe age of 16, it was learned today.

He was grounded recently after completing six missions, including one trip to Berlin, when it was discovered he was under age. Administration officials said he probably will be sent home and honorably discharged. By fibbing about his age, Glover enlisted in the army Oct. 14, 1942 when he was only 14.

"I hate to have to quit the army and give up flying," he said, "but when I'm old enough I hope to re-enlist for pilot's training."

No Time Fixed For Probe Into Store Seizure

Chicago, May 1—(AP)—Federal Judge William H. Holly today heard arguments on the motion of Montgomery Ward and Company to dissolve the order restraining the company and its officials from interfering with federal operation of the plant. Judge Holly has indicated he will rule on the injunction question tomorrow.

Washington, May 1—(AP)—House Democrats split wide today over the proposal to investigate the Montgomery Ward plant seizure.

Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) indicated a "cooling off" process for congressional tempers was favored by the administration forces when he said no time had been set for house consideration of the resolution by Rep. Dewey (R-Ill.) for the investigation.

Washington, May 1—(AP)—Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) said today no time has been set for the house to consider a resolution by Rep. Dewey (R-Ill.) calling for a congressional investigation of the government seizure of the Chicago Montgomery Ward plant.

"I do not know when it will come up," he told his press-radio conference, "I understand the matter is in the hands of the courts."

A Democrat's charge that Republicans are making a "political football" out of the government's seizure of Montgomery Ward brought a prompt GOP retort that President Roosevelt made a "political mistake" in ordering troops to take over the firm.

An investigation of the government's action already was under way in Chicago by a representative of a senate judiciary subcommittee, Senator Revercomb (R-W.Va.), a member of the group, said he personally thought the president's order was "a great abuse of power—if such power exists."

OWLETT PRAISES WARD CO. OFFICIAL
Philadelphia, May 1—(AP)—G. Mason Owlett, president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association, said today the federal government seizure of Montgomery Ward & Company was "a repugnant piece of tyrannical black-jacking" and would turn the people "against Washington bureaucracy."

Owlett, who is a Republican national committeeman for Pennsylvania, said he sent a telegram to Sewell Avery, board chairman, congratulating him on his stand.

Chinese Admit Fall Of Historic Pass

Chungking, May 1—(AP)—Chinese field reports admitted today the fall of historic Hualo Pass, ancient battleground guarding the way to Luyang in Honan province. This is a distinct blow to the Chinese.

An eight day battle preceded loss of the pass, a small piece of flatland backed by steep mountains on three sides. It fronts the Yellow river north of the Lunghai railway, from which the Chinese had removed the tracks.

The invaders were reported to have begun an immediate fortification of the pass, rushing preparations for a possible drive on Luyang.

The Japanese continued an advance down the trackless Peiping-Hankow railway and were threatening the important town of Hsuehchung, 50 miles south of Chenghsien.

STALIN LAUDS ALLIES IN MAY DAY MESSAGE

Premier Calls for Simultaneous Onslaughts to Finish Off "Wounded Beast In His Own Den"

FASCISM IS CRACKING

London, May 1—(AP)—Premier Marshal Joseph Stalin, in a May Day pronouncement, declared today that the Red army and the Allied armed forces must launch simultaneous onslaughts from east and west to finish off "the wounded German beast x x x in his own den."

"There can be no doubt that only a combined blow such as this will be able finally to crush Hitlerite Germany," Stalin declared in a broadcast order of the day which praised the Allies for their "considerable contribution" to past Russian successes.

Stalin said that American and British troops "are holding the front against the Germans in Italy and are diverting a considerable part of the German forces from us. They supply us with very valuable strategic raw materials and armaments and subject to systematic bombing military objectives in Germany, thus undermining the military power of the latter."

Stalin said it was difficult to count on the governments of the Nazi satellite countries to break with Germany.

The premier ordered a salute of 20 artillery salutes fired in nine Russian cities at 8 p. m. tonight in honor of the Red army, the workers, collective farmers and the intelligentsia.

May Day was observed at numerous rallies in England last night, with bright uniforms of the United Nations' invasion forces forming a sea of color as speakers sounded "victory soon" themes.

OIL CITY MAN MISSING

Oil City, May 1—(AP)—Maj. George Carpenter, 27, reported to have shot down 11 enemy planes as a fighter pilot in the European theatre, has been listed as "missing in action" since April 18, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Carpenter said they had been informed by the War Department. He holds the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters.

TWO FOUND DEAD IN CAR

Blairsville, May 1—(AP)—The bodies of Joseph E. Firetz, 26, of Ligonier, Rd 2, and Catherine Petrikovic, 23, of Blairsville, were found Sunday in an automobile here. Death was due to carbon monoxide poisoning, Dr. B. L. Fleming, Indiana County coroner, reported.

Bargain Tax Rate For Big Families Urged

Washington, May 1—(AP)—Bargain tax rates for big families picked up some fatherly support in the senate today, along with suggestions that even more should be done to encourage an increase in population.

The new simplification measure, which has been promised swift congressional action, would cut the tax bills for large families by allowing a flat $500 exemption on every member of the family.

The current deduction for each child is $350. By the same token, the measure would increase tax liabilities for childless couples.

"I say that in view of the high cost of living, the high cost of bringing up children, the deduction should be even more," said Senator Maybank (DISC). "It never was enough."

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) and Downey (D-Calif.) both expressed doubt there would be much inducement in the measure as it stands to increase the birth rate.

There, an old friend and neighbor, who lived near the Knox home in Manchester, N. H., where the late secretary once published a newspaper, will conduct the religious rites. He is Dr. Fred S. Buschmeyer, pastor of the Mount Pleasant Congregational church.

Timetable Is Worked Out In Minutes For Great Adventure

By EDWARD D. BALL
London, May 1—(AP)—At the beginning of this month of May, statistically most favorable for invasion from a weather standpoint, only one thing seemed certain about the forthcoming great venture—the approximate date was decided long ago and the timetable worked out in minutes, even seconds.

Records covering a number of years show the weather in the English channel ordinarily gets better each month from January through May. Through many years May has seen less fog and fewer gales at both ends of the channel—the Scilly islands on the west and Dungeness on the east.

These averages show less than five hours of gales in the Scilly area in May and less than eight in the Dungeness area.

From mountains of meteorological and other statistics a schedule has been worked out.

Thousands of planes for the air umbrella must be worked into the intricate timetable. It also is conceivable that air-borne troops on a scale never before dreamed of may be put down at precise times to destroy enemy communications and prevent the dispatch of his reinforcements to critical points.

As the hour to strike draws near the Allied armies in Britain stand ready.

Assembly Meets To Enact Soldier Vote Legislation

Administration Appropriation Bill Would Set Aside $750,000 for Cost of Providing Ballot For Armed Forces

PARTY LEADERS AGREE TO SIDETRACK POLITICS

Harrisburg, May 1—(AP)—The general assembly convened promptly at noon today on a note of harmony to enact a liberalized soldier vote law for Pennsylvanians in the armed forces.

The gavel dropped in the house at 12:04 p. m., and a minute later in the senate.

Administration appropriation bills ready for introduction would set aside $750,000 for the cost of administering the soldier vote bill, including gathering of names and distribution of ballots, and $50,000 for expenses of the annual governors' conference May 28-31.

The cost of the special session itself has been estimated at $300,000, making the cost of the commonwealth's new soldier vote law roughly a million dollars.

With leaders of both parties agreed on putting politics aside, a one-week session was expected with final adjournment set for the latter part of the week, unless some dispute should develop in clearing the bi-partisan measures through the house and senate.

With opening formalities out of the way, a joint session of the two houses was called to hear Governor Martin urge speedy enactment of "a simple, direct and easily understood plan for our men and women in the armed services (estimated at $800,000) to exercise their right of franchise."

Legislative parliamentarians looked for the house to suspend rules so that all the measures can be introduced, referred to committees, reported back to the floor and passed for the first time before the end of the legislative day. Final enactment of the legislation is expected by the end of the week.

In the senate, meantime, confirmation of Governor Martin's interim appointments of top ranking officials and members of scores of commissions and boards was due for consideration.

Since a two-thirds vote of the 50 senators is necessary for approval of gubernatorial appointments, eighteen Democratic senators hold the balance of power but deferred a decision on their stand until a caucus is held after the initial session today.

PEARL HARBOR SHOCK TO AMERICAN APATHY
Pittsburgh, May 1—(AP)—One hundred fifty graduates of the Carnegie Institute of Technology were told by Attorney Edward O. Tabor that when the Japs struck at Pearl Harbor, "the false and long indulged dream of American security supposedly resulting from Ocean protection vanished in a second."

As the principal speaker at the 39th commencement exercises yesterday, he declared:

"Look the frightful shock of Pearl Harbor to awaken Americans out of their indifferent apathy to realize the fact that world-wide tyranny, brutality and anarchy were on the march and that free Americans were scheduled as victims."

To accomplish that purpose, Governor Martin outlined a five point plan agreed upon at a bi-partisan conference of administration and legislative leaders, providing:

1—Eliminate the necessity for registration of eligible citizens serving with the armed forces.

2—Authorize the governor to proclaim "military ballot day" when election officials will sit at appointed places to receive and list the names of those in the armed forces eligible to vote.

3—To make it possible through the State Defense Council and other organizations to secure a list of all Pennsylvanians entitled to a military ballot and to insure that such ballots shall be sent by appropriate officials to such military absentees.

4—Provide for the maximum allowable length of time for the return of the military absentee ballot.

5—Insure that the ballot be a secret ballot, and that there may be no danger or likelihood of fraud.

Reviewing Pennsylvania's war work, the executive said it was a pleasure to report that, since the 1943 regular session, over 2,000 plants have continued to turn out an avalanche of tanks, steel, fabrics, airplane parts, oil, explosives, trucks and weapons. Our mines have produced enormous quantities of vitally needed coal. Our farms have poured out an abundance of fruit, grain and meat. And Pennsylvania has promptly filled its quotas of service men.

"The 3,500,000 Pennsylvanians manning our industries, our 500,000 farm men and women on our farms and the other thousands keeping up morale, have all done a magnificent job—a job unprecedented in the history of nations."

"We have done more than well in living up to both the letter and the spirit of national directives in the saving of food, clothing and transportation. So far we have done well but we must do better."

Declaring, "If there is a slowing down we can lose" the war, Martin concluded his message:

"I appeal to you, as the real representatives of the people of Pennsylvania to go back to your various homes and urge the greatest efforts in 1944 ever made in the history of any nation of free people."

FATHER AND SON DIE IN CRASH OF PLANE
Pittsburgh, May 1—(AP)—A father and his 10-year-old son died in a crash of their small training plane at Pitt-Wilkins airport, Pittsburg, yesterday, 15 minutes after the boy pleaded:

"Please take me along daddy."

Sylvester Carl Perr, 35, the pilot, and the son, Donald, were in the plane when it stalled at a low altitude, went into a spin and crashed, witnesses said.

LOAN BUILDS LEGS

When his parents were told that an operation might straighten this boy's crippled foot, they didn't see how they could pay for it. But we quickly arranged a loan that provided the necessary money, without disturbing their family budget or interfering with their regular war-bond purchases. Whenever money can help, our loan department can usually help, too.

Wednesday, May 17th, Date For First County Rag Pick-Up

WEDNESDAY. . . . .
Wednesday, May 17, is the date set for Warren County's first Rag Pick-up.

W. T. Corbett, county salvage chairman, this morning issued a list of the types of rags needed and their use in the war effort, as follows:

WIPING RAGS are used for cleaning machinery, removing grease, and polishing in all war plants, aboard all ships, and in all mechanical installations. They may be composed of cotton, linen, or mixtures of cotton, with wool, silk or rayon. Worsteds are not desired. Approximately 50 per cent of all wiping cloths are used directly by the armed forces.

FELT BASE FLOOR COVERING. Great tonnages of rags are required in the preparation of the felt base on which the design of all rugs is printed. All types of rags can be used.

ROOFING. The principal part of asphalt roofing is felt, which is made from canvas, old crepes, cotton cloth and wool cloth. These are very badly needed materials. Coat and upholstery pads are converted into army mattresses and cellulose for gun powder.

BURLAP BAGS are recorded and used in the manufacture of new bags or felt materials.

HATS and any type of straight wool felt is needed for tanks, trucks and other essential materials.

MANILA ROPE is used in the manufacture of electrical installations, parachute flares etc.

COILED ROPE is used to produce essential packing materials. Mr. Corbett believes that about 60 tons of rags will be collected in this initial drive. All rags should be clean.

Hubby Ejects Visitors From His Residence

In the words of the old time song "Whose Shoes are These Shoes Where My Shoes Ought to Be" a husband on Saturday night investigated and found out. He stopped at the police station and taking a few strong arms of the law proceeded to his domicile and conducted a search of the house. Sure enough there was a visitor and once located he was shoved out into the balmy spring air. The report on the police docket says "an unwelcome visitor was ejected" but gives no further details. Evidently the hubby just wanted to put his shoes back where his shoes ought to be.

The coppers also herded in a few of the boys who had drank too well but not wisely and they appeared before the magistrate Sunday morning and heard him give the usual fine and costs. Several family quarrels were settled in a Colmanesque manner and one papa who had gotten himself all full of fighting whiskey was towed to the police station and put in dry dock.

Several doors were found open where the folks had been so busy getting ready for the weekend vacation that they didn't have time to lock up.

One small auto wreck at Third avenue and Water street was investigated when a car driven by William F. Beaumont, of 106 Cole avenue, Jamestown, was hit by a car driven by Ray Baker, 122 Elm street. Both parties carried insurance and the matter will be settled. No arrests were made.

REPORT DELAYED

The report from the Philadelphia laboratory where the head of the dog shot by Malcolm O'Neill is being examined has notified Dr. Sperry Kinton, who sent in the head that there will be a delay in the report. If they show rabies it will be known the dead dog was mad. There will be a delay in the report until this fact is ascertained.

HAS PURCHASED HOME

Don Smith, who recently purchased the Parvin Garage building has purchased the Reed House at the rear of Library Theatre. The house is being razed and the space will be used for parking by the Sylvania Company now engaged in the remodeling of the Parvin Garage. #### COUNTY FORESTS

Over in Crawford the Commissioners have opened a 20 acre County Forest on which 20,000 young trees have been planted. The plot had been devoted to reforestation purposes and waste lands previously taken over by the county in tax sales. After discussion the Commissioners decided that the land would be valuable to posterity if it were planted to trees. It was an innovation in the handling of lands of this character but is one that has won widespread and most favorable comment.

*Commissioners in others of the north tier counties where lumbering was extensively carried on in years passed could well follow this example. Timber lands if protected from fires increase in value each year and waste lands secured for unpaid taxes if planted will become a valuable asset for the future. Planting will halt erosion, growth of quack grass and other weeds and the land will become valuable with passing years.

Warren county has plenty of land which if planted by the county would be an asset in years to come and would convert useless arid into acres worth thousands of dollars to the people of the county. Growing forests are potential fortunes and a few hundreds of acres of lands reforested now in 40 years would be most valuable.

BABSON ON DELINQUENCY

Roger Babson, one of the most widely read columnists in the country, speaks his mind on the subject of juvenile delinquency with the following comment heading his April 28th syndicated article:

"We hear much regarding the delinquency of youth. Many parents are having difficulties in keeping their teen-age children at home and off the streets. This especially applies to communities near army camps, naval bases, air fields and munition plants. I'm told, however, that in most cases the parents of these children are to blame because they themselves, do not stay home. They set their teen-age children a very poor example. Furthermore, for every young person found on the streets at night probably several grownups can be found carousing in night clubs. Therefore, I feel that the first step is for a community to clear up its 'delinquent parent' situation."

Reports of casualties among Warren county young men with the United States fighting forces are beginning to multiply and as the days and weeks pass on the number will increase. Opening of the invasion will bring into action scores of Warren county men now in England and residents of the county must be prepared to learn of the loss of loved ones. However every dollar put into bonds, observance of all gasoline, ration orders, etc., will tend to save the lives of sons, brothers and husbands. It is a time for taking of stock of folk on the home front as to their efforts to make the war shorter and the times when the boys come marching home quicker.

Efforts of the park committee to keep the trees of the town trimmed have been noted during the past few weeks as umbrellas were carried on the streets without their becoming tangled with overhanging shrubbery and limbs. Work of the park commission is so unobtrusive that few realize what a splendid job it is doing.

A study of hospitals in the state showing their availability for emergencies such as a sudden influx of wounded soldiers or disasters is to be made by Major Roger A. Greene, of the State Council of Defense. This will be a new survey made necessary by the war conditions which are expected to soon bring thousands of hospital cases into the state.

Wednesday, May 3, Poland will observe the 153 anniversary of its Constitution and Gov. Edward Martin has asked that recognition be given by residents of this state to the welfare and progress of that nation.

It augers well for Warren's future that few of the plants of this county have changed over or enlarged extensively solely on war orders.

Need of 300 women for the Sylvania during the next few weeks should supply the gear for taking up the slack in the lives of the sweet girl graduates.

Washington in Wartime

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — Behind the scenes, the first big guns of one of the greatest international post-war battles are opening up the fight for control—perhaps a gentler word would be "distribution"—of the world's airways.

A week or so ago, a conference between British and United States representatives was held in London. Soon a similar conference will be held here between U. S. and Russian representatives. This is just spade work. After that the three powers, possibly with delegates from other friendly nations, will hold a joint conference. Out of that may come the pattern for distribution of the world's airways which could easily determine the balance of power in tomorrow's world.

Out of the London conference has come nothing yet except that the talks were "highly satisfactory." Since this is the American report, observers here say it means the British have "made some concessions," although concessions on what isn't quite clear.

IT'S pretty generally agreed that it may be the opening wedge in post-war negotiations that, in the long run, may be more important than boundaries, forms of government and a good many other world problems now belaboring the international thinkers. The important thing at the moment is the man who is going to front for us in these vital negotiations.

He is Assistant Secretary of State Adolf A. Berle Jr. Just turned 49, Berle is the youngest assistant secretary in the department but not in point of international experience. As a captain in World War I, he devoted his time to intelligence and his special field was Poland. He was in the delegation that attended the peace conference at Versailles. As a New York attorney, he gave much time to international law, most of it dealing with Latin America. Sec. Hull had him along at the two big pre-war hemispheric conferences which gave the Americas almost a solid front against the Axis when war came.

HE WAS one of the first of the New Deal "brain trusters" and it is believed that many of the early New Deal policies were shaped around his thoughts and conclusions.

Here is place to pause for a point. Berle is generally described as an "intellectual." Certainly he is a thinker, an analyst in the fields of economics, law and international relationships. Once he has reached conclusions, he tosses them out for what others think they are worth. He doesn't crusade for his ideas.

This doesn't mean he isn't a good negotiator. Word has already drifted back from London that he is very "tough." Friends say that he's a take-it-or-leave-it man in argument—the most difficult type of all to swing around to your point of view.

Hollywood Gossip

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — Rushing Vincent Price through a movie role to let him keep a date with Uncle Sam's Navy set 20th Century-Fox back by the cost of a ruined church, at least.

Price played Angus Mealy in "Keys of the Kingdom." Mealy appears at Father Chisholm's mission at Pai-Tan just after fire has destroyed the church, an impressive stone edifice. To finish with Price, art director William Darling had to superimpose a "wreck" camouflage over the building for those scenes, restore it to good condition for earlier scenes with other actors. The other day the special effects crew did the actual burning....

BORIS KARLOFF, whose bogeyman roles make you chilly, can't stand a chill breeze himself....

Alexander Knox, after five months as "Wilson," isn't interested in doing the character on Broadway. He was considering a Wilson play when the movie opportunity came, but "now I have to prove that I can be someone else"....

Ann Corcoran spent her first six months in Hollywood taking voice lessons to eliminate a slight lisp. Last week she was assigned her first role as a contract player, that of Phil Baker's secretary in "Take It or Leave It." She's in every scene dealing with the radio show hands Baker the cards bearing the questions asked each contestant, and all around her there is conversation. Contestants whisper to each other, and in the audience someone shouts in excitement. But Ann Corcoran? Her lisp gone, she hasn't a line to say to prove it....

IN some movies flowers still crackle, like the paper they are, but never in Mitchell Leisen movies. He won't tolerate artificial flowers on his sets.... Leisen's "Practically Yours," incidentally, will defy a convention: starting off as stark tragedy, it switches suddenly into farce comedy. You're not supposed to make pictures like that, but Leisen will get by with it....

First man in Hollywood to help crooner Dick Haymes was comedian Chick Chandler. Four years ago Chandler gave the then hungry Haymes a job driving him to the studio, then saw that he regularly by persuading the casting department to take him on as Chandler's stand-in. What's more, Chick was first to listen sympathetically to Dick's songs, when he was trying to make the grade as a composer rather than a singer.

Now, as you know, Haymes is a star at the studio where he was Chick's stand-in. And in "Irish Eyes Are Smiling," in which Haymes plays Ernest Ball, the composer, Chick Chandler is also cast—as a theater man who kicks out Dick Haymes, without a hearing!

BEACHHEAD CENTRAL OFFICE

On the slope of a sand dune on a South Pacific beachhead, battle-toughened marines establish a "central office" to link advance posts with headquarters and co-ordinate every phase of the landing operation. That switchboard is one small item in the vast flood of communications equipment produced for the Army and Navy.

***

All-out production for our armed forces has virtually wiped out production for normal civilian needs.

Western Electric Company—peace-time producers of telephone equipment for the Bell System—is now engaged almost exclusively in the production of electronic and other war communications equipment for the Army and Navy.

The war-time shortages of telephone facilities have made it necessary to put applicants for service on "waiting lists." The "waits" are lengthening as facilities and reserve supplies of telephone equipment near the vanishing point.

But the Army and Navy cannot be put on any "waiting lists." Their needs come first.

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY OF PENNSYLVANIA

War Bonds and Stamps are on sale at Bell Telephone Business Offices with the Youngsville fire department.

William H. Wolstencroft who had been with the appliance department of the Metzgar-Wright Company for several years has severed his connections there and joined the sales force of the Turner Radio Company.

"A Quilt of Warren in 1934" is being made at the Presbyterian church by the Woman's Club. Each block will carry the signature of some church member and a small charge of ten cents is made for each signature.

Next week the county and city will be surveyed by representatives of the Ministerial Association. This will show the church affiliation of all residents.

GOT a baby at your house? Wise is the mother who looks ahead to the welfare of these little folks . . . who safeguards every step of their development by adopting proved methods of child care and culture.

Take teeth, for instance. Teeth need calcium, phosphorus and Vitamin D—first to make them strong and hard, then to nourish and help keep them sound.

Homogenized Milk supplies these elements so essential to child welfare. A quart a day, authorities say, gives adequate amounts. If you have a baby at your home, join the Warren County Dairy Health program.

MILK—THE BEST FOR GROWING CHILDREN

A day devoted to the interests of every infant and every girl and boy, America's future citizens.

Beaty School Teacher Elected Head Of Business Women In District One

Honor came indirectly to Warren Saturday afternoon when delegates of District One, Business and Professional Women, elected as president Golda Hill, member of the Youngville club and instructor in the opportunity room in Beaty junior high school here.

Others chosen to serve next season were Agnes Lynch, Corry, vice chairman; Mary Dickson, of Greenville, re-elected recording secretary and Mrs. Ida Ross, of Erie, re-elected treasurer. The corresponding secretary is appointive and will be announced later.

Another important item of business at the spring meeting, held here in the YWCA activities building with 100 delegates from Warren, Erie, Corry, Greenville, Meadville, Union City and Youngville, was the decision to invite the 1945 state convention to be the guest of the district at Allegheny College in Meadville.

Reports were given on the district project of securing radios for Camp Reynolds, showing members had been successful in securing ten so far. Reports of the various clubs showed each had participated in many types of war work during the months past and had other activities scheduled for the near future.

The district banquet at six o'clock in the YW dining hall was served from tables very attractively done with pastel Maypoles and tiny dolls, tall candles in matching shades, floral place cards and printed programs. Miss Lynch, of Corry, was toastmistress for the program, which opened with "The Star Spangled Banner" and the club collect. Viola Lindmark led group singing, with Evelyn Wolstencroft at the piano, and was assisted in several numbers by Adelaide de Maison, district president, and Dorothy Urick, both of Meadville.

Mrs. Ross, of Erie, gave the response to the welcome extended by the local president, Louise Nelly, after which Miss Lynch introduced the special guests: Mrs. Mary Denman, national membership chairman; Dorothy Urick, second state vice president; Mabel Simmons, state program coordination chairman; Mrs. Helen Schluraff, national vice president, past state president and candidate for state treasurer; Helen Remler, past state president; Katherine Remler, first district chairman; Inez Fitch, Edna Thompson and Helen Schluraff, past district chairman; Miss de Maison, Miss Dickson and Mrs. Ross, current officers. President of visiting clubs and their delegations were asked to stand for a greeting.

A vocal quartet composed of Miss Lindmark, Miss Wolstencroft, Mrs. H. D. Harris and Mrs. Foster Maze and accompanied by Mrs. Clarence O. Swanson, was heard in these very pleasing numbers: "In Heaven Above", Norwegian folk song; "The Lord's Prayer" by Malotte; "The Peddler", a Russian popular tune; "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes", by Jerome Kern and the Brahms Cradle Song. Mrs. Margaret Drivas, club member, was accompanied by Miss Wolstencroft for Edith Haines Kuesters arrangement of Moszkowski's "Springtime of Love".

Mrs. Denman, principal speaker, stressed importance of membership renewals, new members and new clubs and spoke of program plans of the national federation for next season. The theme, "Toward Victory and Beyond", will be built about "a program of action for women who work" and will deal with such topics as post-war legislation and employment, what kind of world we want, international relations, health and education, with emphasis by individual clubs of needs of their own particular communities.

Miss de Maison thanked the local members for their entertainment of district clubs and awarding the attendance prize to Erie. Business items of the afternoon were reviewed and the program closed with the Emblem Ceremonial song of the organization. A special prize awarded by the Warren Club went to one of its own members, Martha Fuhrer.

Players' Official Has Suggestions For Play Patrons

Because of unusually widespread interest in Lawrence Riley's new mystery-melodrama, "Time to Kill", being given here on Thursday and Friday evenings, May 11-12, mail orders for seat reservations are already pouring in to the Warren Players' post office box, 563, and it is stated these will be filled before the box office opens next Monday evening, May 8.

The box office chairman, Mrs. Howard Alexander, is preparing for much bigger crowds than the Warren Players have had for years. To shorten the line which usually forms just before curtain time and has often delayed the opening, Mrs. Alexander asks club members and friends to keep in mind these things:

You won't have to stand in line for seat reservations if you send a self-addressed and stamped envelope when you order your seats by mail.

You'll gain the gratitude of the Woman's club personnel if you phone to Warren Players', 776. Sometimes Mrs. Alta Chapel Woman's club secretary, receives as many as 20 to 30 Players' calls a day. Yet the Players have had their own phones for several years.

If you must pick up your reservations the night of the play, please be kind enough to come early, so that everyone may be accommodated before curtain time.

Because the box office staff is very small, box office will be open only three evenings before the play: Monday, May 8, from 7 to 9; Tuesday and Wednesday, May 9 and 10 from 5 to 9; the nights of the play from 7 o'clock until curtain time.

VFW GIRLS' MEETING
The Junior Girls' unit of the VFW will hold its regular meeting and installation of officers in the post rooms at seven o'clock Tuesday evening.

Second Auxiliary Hears Reports of Erie Presbyterial

In addition to devotions by Mrs. William Heggerty and routine affairs taken up at the regular meeting of the Second Auxiliary Missionary Society in the church parlors Friday afternoon, members heard two very fine reports of the delegates who attended the Erie Presbyterial sessions in Franklin on April 26-27.

Mrs. Walter Sigworth, reviewing the first day's events, told of a spirited account of work at Neighborhood House, given by Laurence Royer; the newly established hospital for chronic cases at Cambridge Springs, given by Rev. Kiskadon; a talk on negro schools by Mrs. Hanna of the national mission board, and a report by Miss Amelia Steer on Christian education.

Proceedings of the second day were reported by Mrs. Fred L. Plummer, who told of suggestions for program planning and missionary education for all ages, pointed up by a fine pageant on missionary kinship.

Miss Hulda Angermann, former church secretary visiting in Warren from Wilmington, Del., greeted members briefly at the Saturday session.

A greatly enjoyed skit by Mrs. Brackett Ayers and Mrs. Ralph Sires, depicting conditions in national and foreign mission fields, concluded the program.

Conversation was enjoyed about the tea table, where Mrs. Harold Smith was assisted by Mrs. C. T. Conarro, Mrs. W. E. Fuellhart, Mrs. H. S. Hayden, Mrs. Gilbert Johnson, Mrs. Cora Rhodabarger, Mrs. Grace Siggins, Mrs. H. P. Stone, Mrs. N. K. Wendelboe.

Fine Report and Program Given At WSCS Gathering

Mrs. H. H. Barr, who was one of the Erie Conference delegates to the Methodist WSCS jurisdictional conference held in New York some weeks ago, presented a fine report of the happenings at the regular meeting of the First Methodist unit.

She stressed the conference theme, "to build one harmonious world" and spoke of reports of missionaries to China and Japan concerning their experiences in over-crowded Japanese internment camps.

Mrs. E. S. Briggs was in charge of the evening's business session. Mrs. Ray Shepard conducted devotions and Mrs. Alan Templeton was program chairman. Musical numbers included the following solos and duet by two high school clarinetists: "Old Uncle Ned" by Fisher, played by Wilmer Latshaw; "Beautiful Isle of the Sea" by Thomas, Bill Fuellhart; "Tranquility" by Genard, by both. Their piano accompaniments were played by Mrs. Charles Eaton.

Preceding the meeting and program, men of the Bible class joined the ladies for a 6:30 tureen dinner served by the following committee: Mrs. C. A. Miller, chairman; Mrs. C. W. Barvis, Mrs. C. Burch, Mrs. W. S. Clark, Mrs. E. G. Haines, Mrs. S. K. Jaquith, Mrs. W. F. Mead, Margaret Pittman, Mrs. R. D. Smedley, Mrs. J. D. Short and Mrs. Ethel Johnson. Spring flowers and candles were used in pretty table appointments.

Title Series Starts Tonight At Elk Alleys

The first three games in the championship series will be rolled this evening at the Elk alleys when Soda Minerals meet Struthers No. 2. The series will be for the best out of seven games and will be finished Wednesday evening.

In the Friday night matches Struthers No. 2 were compelled to go the three games before winning out over Kirbygers, the Jewelers taking the first two by close scores. On the other alleys the Soda Mineral boys had a comparatively easy time taking over the No. 1 team from the War Industry.

Much interest is being shown in the series and large crowds are expected to be on hand for the events.

Real Estate Changes Are Reported Here

During the past week several real estate transfers have been recorded. One of them is the sale to Bradford interests of the 75 acre tract owned by the Morch Oil Company in Glade township. The land has been in possession of the Morch Oil Company of Oil City, for the past 50 years. It has a number of producing wells upon it and also locations for others.

Harry Ott and wife and Miss Mabel Ott have purchased the property of Gilbert Sigworth, on the Warren-Jamestown road. The property is a very attractive one, the home resting on a mound some distance back from the highway near the old Irvine mill.

In another deal, Joseph Scallie purchased the property on Pennsylvania avenue, west, which was owned by the Warren County Children's Aid.

St. Louis Browns May Tie The League Record With a Victory Over Indians Today

By TED MEIER

Any lingering doubts that the public didn't want baseball in this third wartime season were dissipated yesterday by an outpouring of more than 208,943 fans for eight major league doubleheaders at New York, Philadelphia, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Detroit, Washington, Boston and Chicago. These figures do not include thousands of service men who were admitted free.

The largest Sunday turnout was at the Polo Grounds in New York where 58,068—including 32,037 paid—saw the Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers split a bizarre twin bill. Thousands were turned away.

The Giants ran away with the opener, 26-8, as Phil Weintraub hit in eleven runs and Eric Lombardi, seven. The Dodgers rallied to win the nightcap, 5 to 4. Joe Medwick, of the Giants, was hit in the groin by a thrown pop bottle between games, but was not seriously hurt although he was kept out of the second game. Leo Durocher, Brooklyn manager, was banished in the sixth inning of the opener. Both the 26 runs and the 11 RBI fell short of existing records.

The St. Louis Cardinals kept on top of the National loop by sweeping a doubleheader from the tail-end Cubs, 5 to 0 and 7 to 5. Southpaw Max Lanier won his third straight game in the opener. Stan Musial's three-run homer won the nightcap. The double setback ran the Cubs' losing streak to nine.

Eric Bonham and Hank Boone hurled the New York Yankees to a double victory over Washington, 2 and 1 and 3 to 2 before 31,057 behind the timely hitting of Don Savage and Bud Metheny. The St. Louis Browns stayed in first place by splitting with the Chicago White Sox. The Sox took the opener, 6 to 5, while Don Guthridge's double won for the Browns in the afterpiece, 5 to 4.

Cleveland and Detroit split their bargain encounter before 35,940, the second largest crowd of the day, at Detroit. The Indians took the opener, 2 to 1, and the Tigers the nightcap, 4 to 2, on Chick Hostetler's two-run single.

The Phillies went 14 innings to beat the Boston Braves, 2 to 1, in the first game of a twin bill before 30,392 at Philadelphia, but had to be content with a nine-inning 2-2 tie in the second game when Butch Nieman socked a ninth-inning homer. Jim Tobin hurled one hitless inning to stretch his streak to 13 consecutive hitless frames.

Pittsburgh and Cincinnati also split a twin bill as did the Philadelphia Athletics and Boston Red Sox. Pittsburgh won the first game, 7-1, while the Reds took the nightcap, 4 to 1, behind Bucky Walters' three-hitter. Bob Johnson's homer gave the Red Sox a 3 to 2 triumph over the A's in the first game. The Mackmen snapped back to take the afterpiece, 3 to 1.

Much of the Old Atmosphere Will Surround Annual Derby

By ORLO ROBERTSON

Louisville, May 1. (P)—The familiar atmosphere which Col. Matt Winn annually entwines around the Kentucky Derby will save the inveterate race fan from thinking he is seeing another race when some three-year old horse break from the barrier in the 70th running of the $75,000 turf classic at Churchill Downs Saturday.

Even the hardboot from the nearby bluegrass country, who can quote breeding lines almost from the beginning of the thoroughbred, will feel a little uneasy. There'll be the ever present mob—probably 50,000 or more, even though the ODT and the local hostilities have clamped down on railroad and hotel reservations and street cars will be the chief mode of travel to the ancient oval on the outskirts of this bustling war industry city.

Superintendent Tom Young again will have the track bedecked in all its spring splendor and the band will play "My Old Kentucky Home" as the horses parade from the paddock.

But there the resemblance between this and any other derby becomes strictly coincidental.

ESCAPE from PARIS

by Marion McClure Stewart

Chapter 28

AS they crossed the farm yard with Lancelot toward the stable he hurriedly explained he had been alarmed by news brought to him by his hired man, Henri Bissette, who he had stationed in the village to report any arrival of Nazis. A sergeant, accompanied by some troopers and arrived in an army van and were making inquiries at the inn about a milk wagon passing through the village.

Entering the stable Etienne pointed to the hay loft. He got a ladder and opened a trap door in the flooring above, cleverly constructed so as not to be visible from below.

"Now up with you quickly," he urged. "Then I'll remove the ladder. I have put a lunch basket up there in case we can't get food to you for some hours."

He hurried them up the ladder, instantly closing the trap door and concealing the ladder beneath a pile of canvas in the store room. In the meanwhile Madame Lancelot had washed the dishes and removed all traces of the breakfast.

Raoul and Adrienne found themselves in a loft stacked with hay into which air entered from a small grilled ventilator at one end. They sat silent, motionless, listening for sounds in the barn. Overhead came the ceaseless cooing of pigeons. At length they heard heavy footsteps below and voices, seemingly raised in altercation; then Etienne's voice protesting, evidently disclaiming knowledge of their whereabouts. Fragments of his speech reached them.

"I AM a milkman myself. Messieurs. Certainly I have a milk wagon. How else should I deliver my milk? You say a milk wagon came this way—perhaps many pass. How do I know?"

Finally all was quiet. The air was warm in the loft and Raoul saw Adrienne's eyes were closed on the verge of sleep. Exhausted, she lay back in the hay.

Suddenly he remembered the sheet of paper he had picked up on the road. He drew it out of his pocket, unfolded it and with the aid of a small electric torch which he carried, bent over to read it. The paper, under large headlines, carried the story published by a leading Paris paper of the shooting of Kapitlan Von Egert on the previous evening.

Raoul's eyes ran down the column of newspaper.

"It has now been undisputedly claimed that the girl who visited the late Kapitlan Von Egert's apartment in the afternoon at the Continental was Adrienne Girard, a beautiful waitress at the Cafe du Dragon Rouge on the Boulevard St. Germaine. For some time, it is said, the girl had been seeing Von Egert and it is no secret that he had become enamoured of her. The pair had frequently been seen in public together. Joan Cortot, concierge at the Bellevue apartments where Miss Girard had been staying, testifies that Miss Girard on the afternoon she visited Von Egert had received a valuable gift of jewelry from him. Cortot, personally, had delivered it to her."

"She was later seen leaving the officer's apartment in an agitated state."

"It is thought that she may be connected with the fatal shooting which occurred the same night. A reward of one hundred thousand francs is offered to anyone who will furnish knowledge of her whereabouts."

Raoul's eyes blazed with anger and amazement and the paper fell from his hand. He had failed in his excitement to read the notice printed below: that a search was also being conducted to locate Raoul de Lamotte, a drug store clerk of anti-Nazi leanings, who was also suspected of being involved in the plot, and had suddenly disappeared.

At that moment Adrienne opening her eyes caught his expression and asked "Raoul, what is it? Have they gone?"

"Read that," he said grimly, thrusting the paper into her hand.

"Adrienne, I can't believe it, they say you went to Von Egert's apartment—You, Adrienne, isn't true?"

HE caught her arm roughly. He recalled now that the news of the shooting had had marked effect on her at the time of its disclosure.

"I thought you cared for this airman you rescued and for this I hated him. But this—if this is true—I could kill you for it!"

Her customary poise had suddenly returned to her. "Be quiet, Raoul. What right have I give you to lecture me so. Yes, it is true—I went to his apartment. She looked up at him defiantly, catching the scorn and anger in his eyes. "Perhaps there was reason for my going. What if I went to return his gift?"

"But why should he send you gifts unless you encouraged him, an enemy of your people, your country?" He spoke more quietly now. "Adrienne forgive me—lost my head for a moment. Tell me one thing—you didn't care for him, did you?"

"CARE for him," she echoed with derision. "The very suggestion is an offense. You should know me better. I was afraid of that Quisling, Jean Cortot, that he would make trouble for us all. It is for my uncle. I regret this story for the most. It will hurt him."

She recalled the tenderness of Pierre Dussault's eyes when he had given her his final embrace on parting. Tears came into her own.

In Raoul's mind had arisen the recollection of the night Gabor had confided to him that Von Egert had sent flowers to Adrienne, and that he had come a number of times to the cafe in order to see her. That had been the night on which he, Raoul, grudgingly watched and resented had placed Von Egert's name on the list of Nazis whose actions must be closely observed by the Underground.

Chapter 29

PIERRE DUSSAULT had slept for several hours following Adrienne's and Raoul's departure, when he felt a hand touch his shoulder.

"Monsieur Dussault," it was Gabor.

Gabor lowered his voice. "It's the Gestapo, M'sieu—not Herr Schaefer, but two men we have not seen before. They are waiting to speak to you."

Dussault got to his feet. "It has come at last, I imagine."

Dussault entered the cafe with his habitual brisk step and alert air. He bowed formally to the two men who were awaiting with evident impatience.

"Good morning Messieurs. What can I do for you?"

"I am Hans Schultz, of the Gestapo, M. Dussault," one said. "And my companion is Kurt Hauptmann. We are both members of Herr Schaefer's staff. What we want is information regarding a waitress who worked here, by name of Adrienne Girard. This is important Monsieur. So think well before you speak."

"There is no occasion to think," returned M. Dussault smoothly. "Anything I know about Adrienne Girard, I can tell you at once."

"Will you tell us why this girl is not at work today?"

"I cannot tell you Messieurs. I have had no word and am afraid she must be ill or something has happened to her."

"If you have any knowledge of her movements last night, it will be to your advantage to acquaint us with the facts."

"I have no knowledge of Mlle. Girard's movements last night," returned Pierre Dussault, his expression undergoing no change.

"Are you aware that the girl is charged with complicity in the plot which resulted in the murder of Kapitlan Von Egert?"

"That is absurd," retorted Pierre Dussault covering the inner agitation of his feelings with a show of indignation. "Mlle. Girard as far as I know was never acquainted with the Kapitlan. He had never paid us the compliment of dining here."

"That shows how little you know of the girl in your employ. She not only knew Kapitlan Von Egert, but she was on intimate enough terms with him to visit him in his apartment in the Continental, yesterday afternoon."

The shock of this revelation fell on Pierre like a heavy blow. He recalled that Adrienne had admitted she had known this man when the news of his death had been given her. His hands clenched.

"M'sieu, what you say is incredible. What proof have you?"

"Plenty of proof," returned the Nazi. The waiter who served cocktails to the Kapitlan recognized Mlle. Girard. He had seen her once in this cafe. She is now good looking to be easily forgotten. A chamber maid, a bell boy and the door man testified a girl answering to the description had rushed madly through the hotel out onto the street."

"But even if that were true," said Dussault gravely, regaining control of himself, "I cannot see that it implicates her in the shooting which took place hours later."

"THAT is what we want to find out," was the grim retort. "We want to discover Mlle. Girard's movements last night. She was seen leaving the Bellevue Apartments at four-thirty o'clock, and later leaving the hotel. That is all we know."

"Well I am sorry Messieurs, but I am powerless to help you in this matter."

He was conscious of the suspicious scrutiny of the two men who left shortly afterwards, leaving him shaken. He discovered Gabor was beside him.

"Gabor, you heard what they said—about Adrienne?"

"Yes M'sieu! It is in the morning papers—the entire story—but perhaps there is no truth in it. We know what liars these Nazis are."

His voice had gathered sudden indignation. "I only know that this man had been pursuing her and trying to force his attentions on her. Madame Dupont will tell you. Dussault covering the inner agitation of his feelings with a show of indignation. "Mlle. Girard as far as I know was never acquainted with the Kapitlan. He had never paid us the compliment of dining here."

took the precaution of listing the Kapitlan as a man whose movements must be watched.

"If this story is true," he lowered his voice, "possibly the waiter who served the cocktails belonged to our movement and reported the incident."

"Yet he appears to have given information to the Gestapo," objected Dussault.

"That would be his safest course and insure him against suspicion," returned Gabor. "He knew others would take action. It was Antoine Castonguay that I gave the information."

A look of understanding passed between them. Antoine's zeal was known to them both.

LATER Dussault sat with Madame Dupont in the flat above.

"This is the worst thing that could happen to Adrienne, Gabor," Dussault shook his head sadly.

"What could have possessed her to have accepted attentions from this man?"

"I warned her, Pierre. Adrienne seemed to think she could get information from him."

He sighed. "I thought it had been for that reason. But her going to his apartment—that surely was the maddest thing of all. Why did she do it?"

"It seems that she sent her gift, rejoined Madame Dupont, thoughtfully. 'Haven't you considered, Pierre, that the child may have gone there to return it?'"

"I pray that she and Raoul got through safely. For myself, I am coming to the worst—I have had my life. But you, Gabrielle, you must not be involved."

"My poor Pierre," tears came into Madame Dupont's eyes. "O what value would my life be if it took yours?" She put her hand in his wondering if at length he realized her devotion. The love she had borne for him during long years. Perhaps now that she had lost Adrienne who from her childhood had been the object of his love and care, he would turn to her for companionship and comfort.

"God bless you, Gabrielle," he raised her hand to his lips and kissed it.

From the fighting fronts to the merchants of this city comes a desperate plea—SAVE WASTE PAPER!

Paper to make bomb rings, shell containers, helmet linings—to pack and protect food, ammunition, and blood plasma. Over 700,000 items needed by our armed forces are made of paper or wrapped in it.

So urgent is the need for waste paper that today it tops the list of all the materials critically needed for war.

In retail stores in this city tons of precious waste paper are daily being destroyed. Used wrappings, cartons, packing boxes, old bills and records are being burned or thrown away when they should be going into the muscle and sinew of our war machine.

Save every scrap of waste paper—bundle it—phone this newspaper for collection information. Do it today!

Get Winter Drag Out of Your Car!

SAVE WEAR, SAVE GAS, TOO!

WHIRLFOAM MOTOR CLEAN-OUT SLUDGE IS A SABOTEUR  Winter driving increases sludge, which clogs oil lines, steals power. Our "Whirlfoam" treatment forces special cleansing oil through the motor—flushes it out for better performance and longer engine life.	CHASSIS and GEAR LUBRICATION THIS IS THE GUN FOR THE WAR ON WEAR  Complete chassis lubrication reduces friction—helps improve gas mileage. Transmission and rear need fresh Summer type lubricants. Special charts of your car assure accurate work.	CHANGE TO SUMMER OIL WINTER OIL IS TOO THIN FOR WARM WEATHER  Excessive "Choking" in Winter causes gasoline to get into the motor oil—thins it out. Oil should be replaced with fresh Summer type Sunoco Oil. It's reinforced for rationed driving.	CLEAN AIR FILTER LET YOUR ENGINE BREATHE EASIER  If you can't breathe properly you can't work right. That's true of your carburetor, too. We clean the air-filter to give a better gas-air mixture—for better performance.
CLEAN SPARK PLUGS A "MISS" COSTS MANY A MILE  Dirt spark plugs can waste up to 10% of your gasoline. Your gas coupons will take you farther and the engine will perform better—with clean spark plugs.	SERVICE BATTERY YOU'LL GET A KICK OUT OF THIS  Winter time is a tough time for your battery. ### Warning On Motor Truck Care Given

"We've always had such an abundance of automotive transportation in America that it's hard to believe that before the war is over we may be up against the problem of not having enough trucks and busses and automobiles to meet essential needs, but it's still the truth," says Mr. D. B. Blackman, who is Sun Oil Company's local district manager. "Yes sir," he continues, "because no new cars are being made, and because we are overworking our present equipment to keep up with wartime scheduled, today's automobiles and trucks are being sent to the scrap heap at the rate of five thousand a day, or about two million a year. Obviously, if this keeps up, it won't be long before we lack enough cars and trucks to meet our barest needs."

"That's why Sun Oil Company's engineers have designed the 1944 Sunoco Spring Changeover Special with such scientific detail. Proper care can help a lot to make a car run better, and last longer. That is why this special one-stop service is now being featured by our Sunoco dealers."

"They change the motor oil and gear lubricants to the recommended summer-type—and by the way, don't forget that today's Sunoco Motor Oil is made especially for rationed driving; made to help keep motors clean so that they will stay powerful and easy on precarious gasoline. And in addition, this Sunoco Car Saver Changeover Special for Spring, also includes many other services when you bring in your car. For instance, the battery, radiator and tires are all carefully checked to be sure they will give you top service. The chassis and running gear receive a thorough inspection, the sparkplugs are cleaned and adjusted to help conserve gas, the fan-belt and hose connections are inspected and even such little things as the car's lights and windshield wipers are checked."

"As a result, by the time your car is given a complete Sunoco Car Saver changeover for Spring, it is returned to you ready to deliver many more miles of safe service. Best of all these services are all done at one time according to scientific charts. Nothing is forgotten, nothing is left to chance, and all work is done at minimum charges. Every Sunoco Car Saver dealer is pledged to do his best work at minimum rates!"

Letters to the Editor

April 21, 1944.

Mr. Wm. Walker,
Times-Mirror,
Warren, Pa.

Dear Mr. Walker:

The following resolution was presented and adopted at the April 14th meeting of the Warren County Council of Defense.

Resolved: That a letter of appreciation be sent to the Times-Mirror expressing the unanimous thanks of the Council for the very splendid help rendered in placing before the people of Warren County the Defense Council's Program.

The recognition given Warren County, both State and National, for the outstanding success of the Warren County Salvage Committee is in large measure due to the aid of your newspaper in correctly informing the women of Warren as to processing tin cans and saving paper, fats and other salvage materials needed in the War Industries.

We take pride in having such loyal unselfish people as yourself and associates for fellow citizens and workers in this effort to help our boys win the war.

We realize the valuable space contributed by the newspapers to War agencies means a real sacrifice on your part and again let us thank you for your loyal support and cooperation.

WARREN COUNTY COUNCIL OF DEFENSE
A. M. GIBSON, Chairman.

During the business session Miss Theresa Nelson read her report as treasurer of the Irvine Presbyterian church for the year ending March 31, 1944, and a motion was made, seconded and carried that the Ladies Union contribute $5.00 to the Presbyterian Home and Hospital, located at Cambridge Springs.

A most generous free will offering was received.

For the social hour, Mrs. Crull provided Biblical quizzical games, and the hostess served very pleasing refreshments at an attractive table, centered with beautiful spring flowers and burning tapers, and at smaller tables in living room. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Forest Nichols, Conewango avenue, Warren on Thursday, evening May 18th. Mrs. Ben Huckabone to provide part of entertainment for the evening.

Questions and Answers On Community Recreation

Questions and comments of all kinds have been made during the past few months since a community recreation program has been suggested for Warren. A few typical questions with partial answers will appear in the Times-Mirror to give some idea of what will be handled in the panel discussion next Tuesday evening, at the public meeting on community recreation sponsored by the Community PTA Council.

Why do we need a program? The need is not a new one, although it is accentuated by war or depression crises. There has been a need in Warren for years, expressed repeatedly, for a centralized program. Communities which have a well-coordinated program eliminate much duplication of effort and have a far better coverage for the people's needs. Out of school young people and adults in Warren have expressed the need for mixed community activities, covering sports, crafts, social function, adult education projects, etc.

There is a year round need for adults as well as young people to have relaxation to offset the strain of daily work and to share in the community's recreational life, satisfying the craving for companionship. This is especially important in wartime, when people are under an added strain. The post-war period is being considered all over the nation and should not be neglected in our community. The time it takes to set up any program makes it imperative to get started before conditions become too serious. We feel that in wartime when existing agencies are already short-handed, coordination is imperative to meet the emergency and to build for post-war reactions.

Why do we need a paid director? We feel that recreation is a specialized field that requires training for program, administration, and public relations, particularly if he is to coordinate present efforts and introduce new ones. We feel that the success of such a program would be jeopardized if it did not get the right start, under competent leadership. All agencies testify to the difficulty of getting adequate volunteer help at this time. Present needs cannot be met without more help and more financial aid.

Critelli Is Commended For Efforts

Friends of Lewis J. Critelli, whose transfer by the Red Cross Entertainment Service from New Guinea to Australia was just announced a few days ago, will read with interest that he has received a fine letter of commendation from the chaplain and commanding officer of the ship on which he went out.

While the name of the ship and its officers cannot be revealed in the interests of military censorship, the following letter from the chaplain and endorsement from the ship's officer are quoted verbatim:

Letter of Commendation—I want to take this opportunity to thank you for all the work you have done to make this voyage a pleasant and successful one. The fine work you did with the shows on deck is appreciated by everyone, I am sure.

Since you are going out for the first time to serve our troops in the field, I want to give a recommendation for you, wherever you may work, on the basis of the fine results you produced while on board our ship. The entertainment you organized, both the afternoon shows and the "Grand Finale" were the best we have had yet, and we commend you highly.

This work falls under my department, but the only credit that I am willing to take for it is that I was very fortunate in securing such willing and faithful help in carrying the program on.

Please accept my sincere thanks, and my best wishes for you and those with whom you work as you go on to your assignment. Also please extend this word of appreciation to all those who so ably assisted you.

May God bless you and your work with our men. Commander's endorsement—It is always a great satisfaction for the Navy to give a "Well Done".
